LBJ, Goldwater Meeting on Rights

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Against a backdrop of harsh words, Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater talks with President Johnson today about steps "to avoid any inflating of trouble" over civil rights in the presidential campaign.

"I don't want to exploit the campaign in any way that will cause disorder," the Arizona senator said Thursday night.

He talked with newsmen just after he had voted against Johnson's $947.5-million program to combat poverty. It passed 62 to 33.

Goldwater said he is not going to propose a formal agreement with Johnson to keep the explosive side of civil rights out of politics in the months ahead. And he said he does not want to discuss the new Civil Rights act, which he opposed in the Senate.

What he wants, Goldwater said, is a "broad discussion on the campaign and what we both can do to avoid any inflating of trouble."

Goldwater sought the White House session.

To prepare for it, he called a huddle of his research advisers for a discussion of the message he will carry to the President.

Goldwater has said he wants to give the civil rights law a chance to work, even though he voted against it on grounds its sections on public accommodations and equal employment are unconstitutional.

Goldwater has, in effect, dared Johnson to make an issue of civil rights. Hours before he won the Republican nomination, the Arizona senator said in San Francisco:

"Having opposed civil rights until this year, let him make an issue of it. I'll just repeat back to him the thousands of words he has spoken."

"Lyndon Johnson is the biggest faker in the United States,"

Goldwater added. "Let him make an issue of it. He's the phoniest individual that ever came around."

Despite his criticism of the new law, Goldwater has declared himself "unalterably opposed to discrimination of any sort," and has said he will not inject civil rights tensions into the campaign.

And White House press secretary George Reedy said Johnson "would not do anything to incite or inflame tensions."

DRILLING FOR OIL — Oil well drilling operations continue on Rouse Home property as leasers work to bring the sixth well for Hogset & Co. Drilling started Monday and according to driller Jim Kane, checking progress today, the work should be completed tomorrow. It is anticipated that there'll be plenty of oil as well as clean natural gas. Storage tanks and a "heater-treater" have been moved in. U.S., Germany Cold To DeGaulle's Plans

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's call for an international conference to bring peace to Indochina and his new challenge to United States leadership of the West drew cold rebuffs today from Washington and West Germany.

American officials brushed aside as wholly unacceptable De Gaulle's proposal for a new 14-nation conference — with the United States, Russia, Red China and France as the principals — to settle the woes of South and North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

They also rejected De Gaulle's contention that a military solution in South Viet Nam is impossible. They said the United States cannot consider another Indochina conference until a new military balance is created in South Viet Nam.

The French leader's sharp notification to Washington that its postwar dominance of the West had ended hardened the impression among U.S. diplomats that the rift between De Gaulle and the United States is beyond healing.

In Bonn, De Gaulle's reassertion of his design for an independent Europe based on French-West German political coordination also drew stern rejections.

Officials in Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government repeated their insistence that West German policy is based firmly on a closely integrated alliance with the United States and ultimately partnership between a unified Europe and America.

However, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, De Gaulle's co-architect of postwar French-West German cooperation, said he agreed with the French leader's statements regarding various changes in the world's political structure.

De Gaulle told his semiannual news conference Thursday: "The division of the world between two camps led by Washington and Moscow no longer corresponds to the new world situation."

"We must however maintain the alliance with America because in the North Atlantic, both Europe and America are mutually interested as long as the Soviet menace persists. But the reasons for our subordination to America are being eliminated one after the other."

West German officials said "subordination" did not describe relations between Europe and the United States in the Atlantic Alliance.

SW's Orders For Vessels Good to '65

TITUSVILLE — Officials of Struthers Wells Corp. estimate that it will take the plant the remainder of the year to complete orders now in on gigantic multiwall vessels being produced by the company.

THE PLANT has orders for approximately 30 such vessels, some of which will weigh as much as 360,000 pounds.

The first two of the vessels, reactors to be used in the manufacture of fertilizer, are being shipped to Bay City, Tex. One was shipped last week and another is scheduled for this week.

THE VESSELS, designated as vertical fixed bed reactors, each weighs 291,000 pounds and measures 86 feet in length.

They are being constructed using Struthers' patented multiwall method in which layer shells are formed from rolled steel plates, shrunk together and welded to form completed vessels.

THE CONCENTRIC shells may be as thick as two inches each and as many as five shells may be used in the same vessel, it was reported.

The shop is now full of multiwall vessels in various stages of construction for both government and private industry.

Poverty Bill Is Approved By Senate on 2-1 Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's bill to carry out his war on poverty has won Senate approval by nearly a 2-1 margin.

The battleground now shifts to the House, where the Rules Committee is expected to vote early next week on a similar proposal to be considered the following week.

The measure had come under heavy attack from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee, as a "hodgepodge of programs treating only the results, not the causes, of poverty."

"It seems designed to achieve the single objective of securing votes," he said in a minority report on the bill.

Although Goldwater did not enter into the two days of Senate debate on the measure, a majority of the 33 Republican senators joined him in voting against it.

On the 62-33 roll call Thursday night that sent the bill to the House, 52 Democrats voted for and 11 against passage. The Republican line-up was 10 for and 22 against. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., the only absent GOP member, was announced as against passage.

Southern Democrats split about evenly. Before the $947.5 million bill was passed, two states giving governors a veto over establishment of some of

Disorders Dwindle In Harlem, Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP) — White youths hurled missiles at Negroes and whites picketing Police Headquarters during the night while disorders dwindled in Harlem and Brooklyn, scenes of five nights of strife.

The picketing of the headquarters, in Lower Manhattan, was sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality, which accused the police of brutality and demanded the ouster of Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

An egg thrown by the whites who opposed the CORE group narrowly missed Murphy.

A rock hit Police Inspector Henry Yack, 59, in the right eye. He was taken to a hospital.

Police protected the men picketing them by setting up wooden barricades to keep the whites at a distance.

None of the pickets was hit. The anti-picket crowd swelled to 1,500 at its peak. Most just watched the activity. A fraction of them — mostly teen-agers from the Italian - American neighborhood surrounding the headquarters — jeered and hurled objects.

After three hours of picketing, the CORE demonstrators were escorted in three groups to nearby subway stations. They were trailed all the way by hostile residents of the lower East Side neighborhood, who continued to hurl missiles at both police and pickets. A policeman was hit on the shoulder with a rock, treated at hospital and released.

Police arrested seven whites who were in an auto from which an anti-Negro placard had been flung. Six men and youths were charged with disorderly conduct. One boy was charged with

FBI Makes First Rights Law Arrest

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—The FBI has made its first arrests under the public accommodations sections of the new Civil Rights Act.

Agents of the bureau charged three Greenwood white men with a conspiracy designed to keep a Negro from going to a downtown movie theatre.

The three men, Willie Amon Belk, 47, a plumber; his son, Jimmy Allen Belk, 19, and Sam Allen Shafer Jr., 40, a Belk employee, posted $1,000 bonds before U.S. Commissioner W. O. Luckett at nearby Clarksdale following their arrest Thursday.

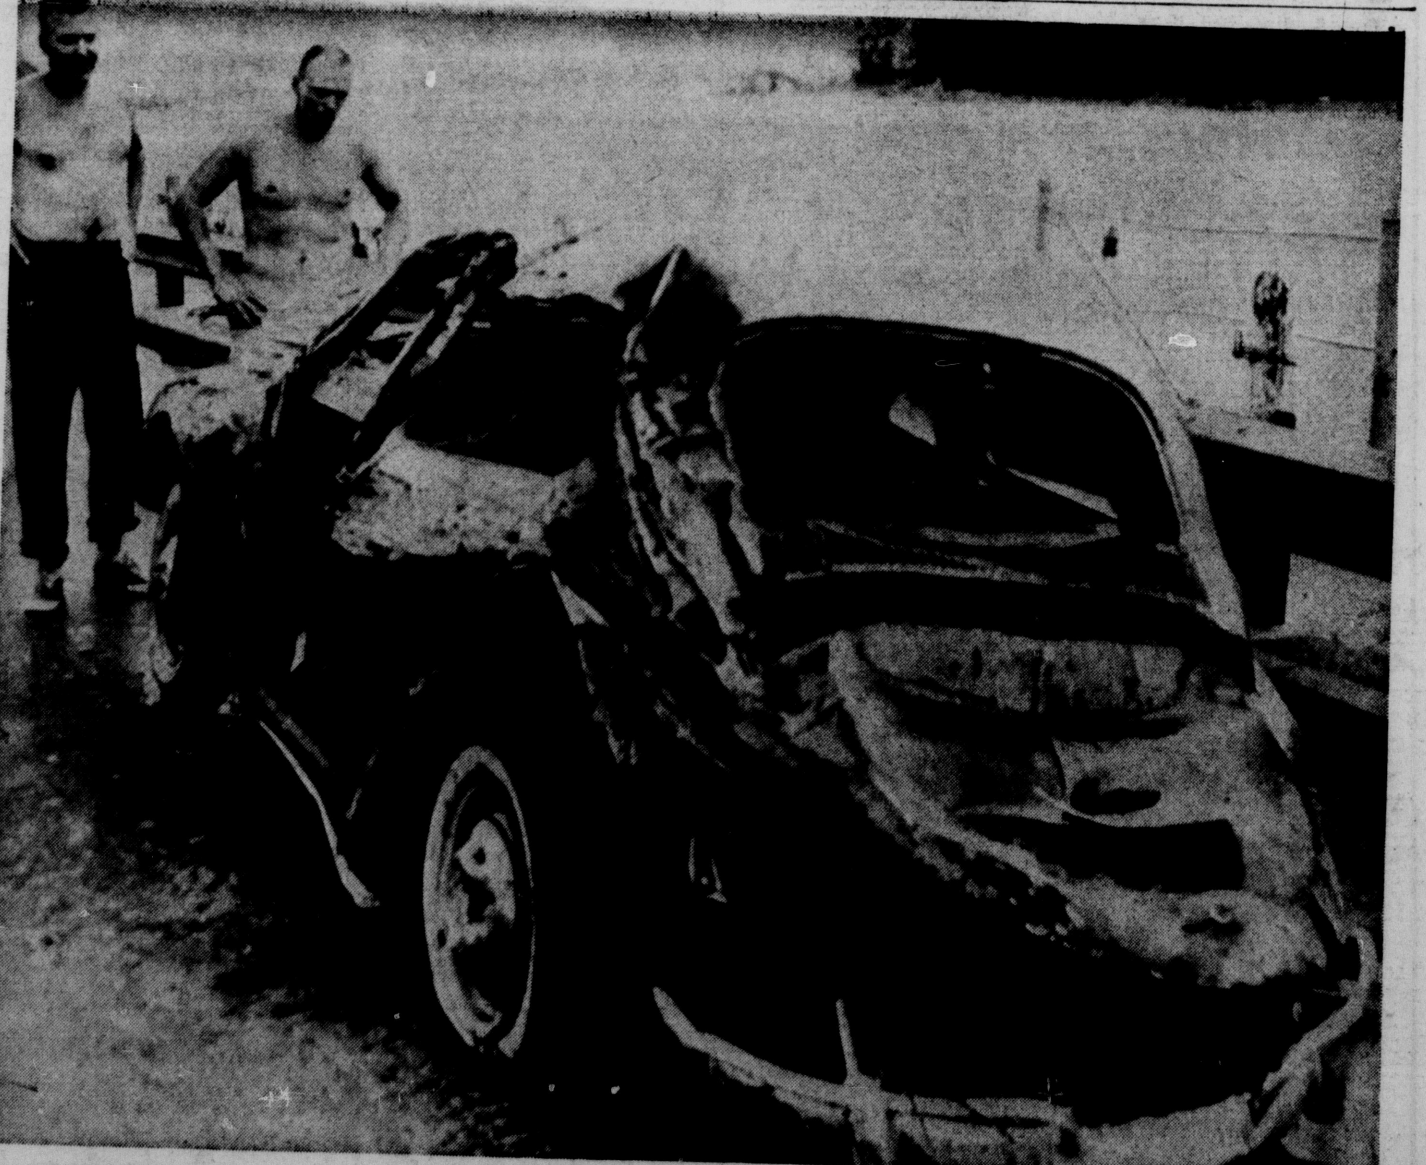

The FBI charged the three with "unlawfully conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" Silas McGhee, 21, of Greenwood, "in the free exercise of his right to full and equal enjoyment of a motion picture house, the Leflore Theatre."

The theatre management declined comment.

The FBI gave this report:

On July 16, McGhee staggered into the Greenwood FBI office, bleeding from head wounds and

Record High $105,400 Goal Set in Chest Drive

The board of directors of the Warren Community Chest Inc. has adopted an all-time high goal for the 1964 campaign.

IT WILL seek at least $104,400 in the October fund drive for the support of its ten member agencies, according to Donald E. Conway, president.

Adoption of this goal was made upon recommendation of the Chest's budget committee, which during the past few weeks has carefully studied the financial condition and the operating needs of all the participating agencies.

DONALD H. Wischer, Thomas Coupling Division executive and chairman of the budget committee, pointed out that the member agencies have not received increases in their Community Chest grants since 1960.

In strongly recommending the goal, Wischer declared that the additional funds were needed to allow the agencies to continue their services to the area and to offset the inflationary operating costs increases since 1960.

A SUCCESSFUL campaign, he said, will permit the distribution of an additional $10,450 to the Chest agencies in 1965. The $104,400 goal is more than 11 per cent above last year's goal of $93,945.

President Conway gave high praise to Wischer's committee for its very thorough investigation of the agency budget requests and for the comprehensive report submitted to the board for approval. Committee members included Harold F. LaPoint, controller, Sylvania Electric Products Inc.; Edward A. Ryberg, assistant secretary-treasurer, Pennsylvania Bank and Trust Co.; and Alan H. Templeton, retired Warren National Bank executive.

STRANGE INTERLUDE? — This might seem like a strange time to play a violin concerto, but then again Peter Sellers is known to do strange things. The rather puzzled lovely lady is Capucine, and they both appear in the delightful comedy, "The Pink Panther," which will open Saturday at 6 p.m. at the Library Theatre. The Mirisch Company presentation of Blake Edwards' Technicolor-Technirama picture is being released through United Artists.

By EDGAR BUCHANAN
For Cynthia Lowry

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now that lawyers, surgeons, psychiatrists, clergymen, newspapermen, soldiers, schoolteachers and detectives have all been glorified by television, I'm waiting impatiently for the business to do right by us dentists.

It's a matter of loyalty with me. After graduating from the North Pacific Dental College in Portland, I practiced for 10 years in Eugene, Ore., before turning actor, and I don't like to see my old dodge slighted.

I like acting fine, whether it's playing the sheriff in a horse opera or Uncle Joe in "Petticoat Junction." But sometimes I have a sentimental yen to get my hand on a drill and my knee on a patient again.

You can understand why one of my favorite roles was the dentist I played in a picture called "Texas," with Glenn Ford and Bill Holden.

I was offered that kind of part only one other time. That was for another Western, but I was supposed to depict the dentist as a drunk, so I turned down the

13 County School Districts
Get $20,079 in State Aid

HARRISBURG — State funds amounting to $20,079.67 have been paid to 13 school districts in Warren County covering part of the cost of providing special education classes for handicapped pupils in the 1962-63 school year, the state department of public instruction said yesterday.

Warren County school districts received state grants and the amount in each case was as follows:

Warren Borough, $10,818; Brokenstraw Valley Merged, $3,052.64; Allegheny Valley Merged, $530.72; Conewango Township, $684.53; Glade Twp., $328.29; Elk Twp., $71.90; Pleasant Twp., $309.94; Sheffield Area Jointure, $3,055.70; Watson Twp., 22.19; Deerfield Twp., $204.97; Limestone Twp., $180.86; Tidioute, $626.96; Triumph Twp., $192.91.

All but one of the special education classes conducted by Warren County school districts were for mentally retarded pupils in both elementary and high school grades. The exception was a class in speech correction.

In addition to the classes by the school districts, the Warren County board of school directors provided special classes for mentally retarded and in speech correction. The board provided also a class for "trainable" pupils. These classes were conducted in various schools in the county.

State funds for the county board classes were paid to the board at the opening of the school term, the department said.

Dead Baby's
Parents Sought

An eight-weeks old boy was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Warren General Hospital at 9:30 a. m. today. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Wright. According to Coroner Ed. C. Lowrey, the infant died from aspiration. The time of death was set at approximately 4 a. m.

Lowrey also stated that the mother left the hospital and started for Tionesta. The child's body was removed to a Warren funeral home where a spokesman told The Times-Mirror they had been unable to reach the parents earlier today. The only information available to the funeral director is an Ivanhoe phone number.

Pantomimes,
Jr. Olympics
Staged Here

After the Junior Olympics, a less strenuous program of amateur acts and pantomimes was the featured activity on the borough playgrounds.

At DeFrees playground 20 participants saw Mary Ann Pace put on the best pantomime act. Second was Debbie Condo, followed by Willie Clinger.

In the talent contest at Crescent playground Donna and Diane Ponick had the best duet act, while Julie Wischer won in the song and dance category. After the pantomimes, Crescent defeated Memorial in a girls' softball game, 15-3.

The winning girl singer at Memorial playground was Jane Clinger, and her male counterpart was John Matha. Nick Wendelboe performed the best stunts, while Cathy Cusmano and Toni Albaugh had the triumphant duet.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband hasn't kissed me since 1959. And then it was only a little peck on the cheek. We are both in our 60's and I would enjoy some affection. I hate to bring it up because I think it's the man's place to. I suppose there is always a chance that he is finished with that part of his life. But if he isn't, what a pity to have it wasted. I don't discuss matters of this nature with my friends, so I don't know whether I am expecting too much of my husband or not. Can you tell me?

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: The physical capabilities of men vary widely, so there is no telling when one is "finished with that part of his life." Forget whose place it is to take the initiative, and you'll have your answer.

DEAR ABBY: I know you are probably sick of complaints against mothers-in-law, but please help me. Four months ago my mother-in-law came to live with us. She's spry, in good health and a good sport. BUT—she monopolizes every conversation. This is no exaggeration. She talks constantly, no matter where we are; at the dinner table, breakfast table, riding in the car or just sitting in the living room. Her voice drones on and on. All the people in her past are discussed at length, everybody's house, and what they have. And she knows more about any subject than anyone else. She discusses every newspaper article, radio program, and TV show she's ever read, heard or seen. I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world. And neither would my wife. What, oh what, Dear Abby, can be done?

NO NAME, NATURALLY

DEAR NO: Since she is living with you, your wife must get her side and tell her gently, but firmly, that she must give someone else a chance to talk. If she "forgets," she should be quietly reminded. But for the sake of your family's happiness, DON'T let this go on.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went on a camping trip, at which time the mosquitoes sure had a ball on my ankles. My husband said the bites on my ankles could not possibly have been mosquito bites because the "stinger" or proboscis of a mosquito cannot penetrate an inch-thick woolen bobby sock. I KNOW they were mosquito bites because they were identical to the bites on my arms, and I SAW the mosquitoes biting me there. So who is right?

MRS. W. C. S.

DEAR MRS. W. C. S.: To quote Dr. E. M. Farber, Chief of Dermatology at Stanford's School of Medicine: "The husband and wife are both right! Mosquitoes cannot bite through an inch of woolen sock. But they don't have to because mosquitoes not only fly, they climb up socks and crawl down into them, which is apparently what happened. P. S. I hope that is the most serious problem they ever have—the husband and wife, not the mosquitoes."

Expert Claims School Success Means Little

PITTSBURGH (AP)—If your child gets straight A's in high school, earns three letters in sports, edits the school newspaper and excels in enumerable other activities don't get too excited about it.

Success in high school, a study conducted by a University of Chicago professor shows, has nothing at all to do with success in later life.

In fact, said Dr. Allison Davis on Thursday, "the family does far more to promote success than high school."

Dr. Davis, professor of education and human development at Chicago, told a University of Pittsburgh group that a study of 376 students at a large Mid-western city showed:

There is little or no relation between good grades and later financial success.

There is little or no connection between good grades and the ability to accept family and home responsibilities.

There is no relation between social activities in school "and anything at all in adult life."

The longest mountain range on earth is underwater. The Mid-Atlantic Ridge, 300 to 600 miles wide, runs nearly 10,000 miles from Iceland almost to the Antarctic Circle. Pico Island, highest peak in the ridge, rises 27,000 feet from the ocean floor and 7,615 above sea level.

Laundry Bag Danger Is Cited

A new source of danger had been discovered by Warren borough firemen—the use of plastic laundry bags!

A recent household fire started after a housewife finished her ironing, placed the garments in a plastic bag while still warm and went downtown. Neighbors reported the blaze which burned some of the clothes, scorched a kitchen door and broke glass. No member of the household smoked, firemen stated, and there was no electrical problems.

Firefighters discovered that spontaneous combustion can ignite clothes placed in plastic laundry bags before they are cool. Firemen also warn that users of dryers make sure their clothes are not stored in a closed place until they have had sufficient time to cool.

Young Says PO Workers Are Helping Opponent

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John A. Young, a Democratic Congressional candidate, says a group of postal workers is addressing franked mail for his incumbent opponent, Rep. James Fulton, R-Pa.

Young, of suburban Bethel Park, said Thursday he has asked the U. S. Attorney's office to determine if Fulton has violated the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

Young said a personal investigation disclosed that a highly organized group of about 40 postal workers was engaged in the operation.

Reached in Washington, Fulton said there was no campaign literature in the mailings. He said this is the time of the year that the agriculture department makes available certain pamphlets.

"It is regular routine to send them out," Fulton said, "and I do it as a service for my constituents."

Fulton, seeking his 11th term in the 27th Congressional District, said it has been standard practice for certain unions to volunteer their services for this type of work—for both parties.

Young said in his memorandum to the attorney's office that the situation "seriously jeopardizes our civil service system and opens the door to unlimited political corruption."

Saigon Residents Are Apathetic About Jungle War in Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"We don't try to recruit troops in Saigon because they don't make good marines," says a U.S. adviser to the Vietnamese marine corps. "The South Vietnamese country boys are stronger, they're more susceptible to discipline, and they make better fighters."

A U.S. civilian official said: "If we could persuade the Saigonese that this war was worth fighting, we'd have won half the battle."

A U.S. Ranger adviser, a West Point man, said: "With decent leadership, Vietnamese troops can do wonders. Without dedicated officers from Saigon, they're lost."

And another adviser said: "There's a lot of talk about the Vietnamese people being weary of the war. People who talk that way should have a look at some little self-defense corps post in the heart of Viet Cong territory that's been holding out for days and months and years without a whimper."

"There's a lot of war weariness all right—in Saigon."

"The weariest types you'll ever come across are sitting behind desks in Saigon, where they haven't heard a shot fired in anger in 10 years."

By and large, such criticism has not been directed at Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the Vietnamese premier. Khanh has liberalized pay and decoration policies for his troops, tried to improve morale generally, and has set an example by visiting the men under fire. Some of his officers have followed the example.

But Saigon, a city of nearly two million inhabitants, about one-seventh of South Viet Nam's population, remains generally indifferent.

Government sources report unusually large numbers of wealthy Vietnamese applying for exit visas needed to resettle in other countries.

While Khanh has threatened the death penalty for officials convicted of corruption, reports from normally reliable sources have it that corruption is once again on the increase, even in upper-command echelons.

The city's uproarious night life continues at full tilt. Juvenile delinquency and the crime rate are soaring.

Congressman Backs Barry, 'At Scranton's Request'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said today he will support the national Republican ticket in November at the request of Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Schweiker, an early supporter of Scranton for the GOP presidential nomination, cited Scranton's request for party unity during the GOP convention last week in adopting his position.

Schweiker, who served as chairman of the Scranton-for-President club of Pennsylvania, expressed disappointment that the moderate cause espoused by Scranton at the convention did not prevail. But he said he will continue to be among the Pennsylvania governor's staunchest supporters.

Some Republicans, including Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, have said they cannot support the national ticket at this time because of the views of the party's presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., Scranton's floor manager during the convention, was vacationing in Canada this week and could not be reached for his views of Goldwater.

The third major supporter of Scranton's candidacy among Pennsylvania members of Congress, Rep. Robert J. Corbett, dean of the state's GOP House members, said he is not yet ready to announce his position.

Schweiker said the nation and the GOP had much to gain if Scranton were nominated but added:

"Bill Scranton has called upon all Republicans to unite in support of all the party's nominees. In his speech before the Republican convention to make Sen. Goldwater's nomination unanimous, he said 'The Republican party must now emphasize its unity not its differences... I will work for and fully support the ticket chosen by this convention.'"

"I intend to support Gov. Scranton in this request."

'The Living Flame'

THE WEEKLY press of the United States, meeting at Grafton, Ill., this past week, has selected an editorial which appeared in the Dallas, Pa., Post, a weekly paper, as the top example of its contribution to journalism.

The editorial, called The Living Flame, and written by Mrs. T. M. B. Hicks, is reprinted here in full:

The hollow and alien sound of hooves on Pennsylvania Avenue. The six grey battle horses and the outrider on the seventh.

The flag-draped casket on the caisson.

The riderless horse with its empty saddle, dancing feet spurning the pavement, restive under the rein, but obedient.

The Navy band—Hail to the Chief—America the Beautiful . . . the Navy Hymn.

The unending procession of mourners filing past the bronze casket, high on the catafalque in the vast and echoing rotunda of the Capitol, the same catafalque where Abraham Lincoln had lain in state almost a hundred years ago.

Dark faces among the grieving multitudes and among the chosen service men who guarded the casket, North and South and East and West, at the four points of the compass.

Notables from other countries, heads of state, delegations, arriving at Dulles Airport during the evening hours of the day before the state funeral.

Royalty joining the family and the new President of the United States, the Cabinet, and high officials of the government on the symbolical walk behind the caisson from the White House to St. Matthew's Cathedral.

The Mass of Requiem.

The procession from St. Matthew's to Arlington Cemetery, sleek black limousines creeping behind the caisson.

The funeral march.

Anxious Secret Service men guarding the new President.

The Lincoln Memorial at the entrance of the bridge spanning the Potomac.

The endless procession, reaching back as far as the eye can see.

Onward Christian Soldiers—and again, the muffled drums.

The caisson, emerging from the shadows of the buildings into eternal sunshine.

The Memorial Bridge, and the grey horses laboring up the hill to the yawning grave.

Dry leaves scudding before a freshening breeze, in the bright November sunshine.

The Black Watch, and the wailing bagpipes.

Two colored boys, young and dignified, in the uniform of their country, helping six other service men to carry the coffin from the caisson to its final resting place.

The solemn ceremony.

Jet planes screaming overhead in formation, saluting their fallen chief.

The Irish Guard, saluting and leaving the site of the grave.

Haile Selassie, the Lion of Judah, from Ethiopia, small and somehow pathetic in his bedizened uniform, dwarfed by General deGaulle, imperturbable in his field marshal's cap.

A breathless hush.

Cardinal Cushing . . . I am the Resurrection and the Life.

The 21-gun salute, echoing over the graves at Arlington, and over the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where the President of the United States had placed, so short a time ago, a wreath in memory.

And over the grave of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

The firing squad, three short bursts of fire.

Taps.

The flag, held taut above the casket by eight service men, folded now with beautiful precision, and passed ceremonially from hand to hand, to be presented formally to the black garbed widow.

The Navy Hymn—Almighty Father, Strong to Save.

The Eternal Flame, kindled by Mrs. Kennedy.

The decorous departure of visiting dignitaries, foreign heads of state, the new President of this nation, and two former Presidents.

The lengthening shadows, throwing into stark relief the white gravestones of the nation's heroic dead.

The "little people" filing past the casket, still not lowered into the kindly earth.

A cathedral hush, long light slanting through the trees. Dusk, and a newly mounded grave.

The Living Flame.

Editorial Viewpoints Of Other Leading Area Newspapers

THE FIRST test of strength between President Johnson and Senator Barry Goldwater since the latter's nomination for the presidency will occur in the halls of Congress rather than at the polls. As the law-makers go back to work this week, they face a heavy agenda including several items on which the President and his Republican challenger have taken opposing stands.

In the Senate, where Mr. Goldwater will be personally involved, battle lines will be drawn this week on two major pieces of the Johnson administration legislation. One is the $962.5 million anti-poverty bill, which the President has put high on his legislative priority list and which Senator Goldwater fought as a member of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. Floor consideration of the measure is scheduled to begin Wednesday, with Majority Leader Mike Mansfield hoping for six or eight Republican votes to offset Southern Democratic defections. A companion bill in the House is still bottled up in the Rules Committee.

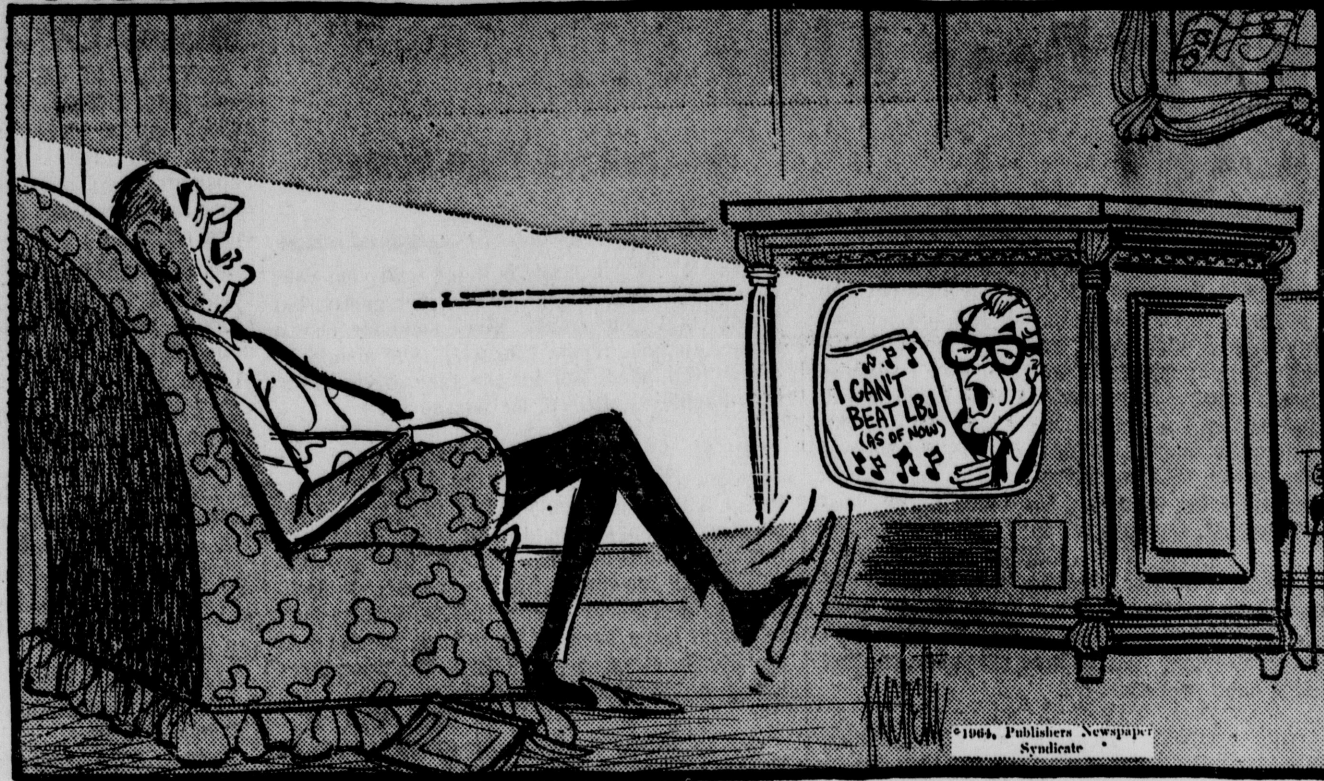

The other significant Senate bill is the 3.5 billion foreign aid authorization measure, which has already been passed by the House and approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Though the Administration pared it to the bone in the hope of getting it through without a fight, Senator Goldwater is a member of a coalition that will strive this week to cut the total still further.

Because these key bills slated for early Senate action, there are other important program which have passed both houses but which contain differences that must be adjusted in conference committees and then ratified by the two branches. These include: the food stamp program for improving the diets of the poor with agricultural surpluses, the $674 million pay increase for federal employees, the $1.1 billion federal highways authorization bill and legislation to provide counsel for indigent defendants in federal cases. Will Republicans help in completing final action on these bills, thus earning credit for supporting popular legislation but at the same time helping the 86th Democratic Congress to chalk up the good record that President Johnson has somewhat prematurely claimed for it? Or will they stall in the hope of creating campaign issues for Senator Goldwater?

The legislative tack of Republican moderates who differed with the Goldwater forces at San Francisco should provide a clue to whether the Senator's nomination will split the GOP and assist President Johnson. Beyond the question of a partisan test, however, is the simple matter of the efficiency of Congress. With the Senate losing three months in the civil rights debate and with both houses losing two weeks for the party conventions, how much of its essential business will Congress complete before the campaigning season? A long unfinished agenda should be a campaign issue to be put to the legislators themselves.

SINGALONG

Drew Pearson: Washington Merry-Go-Round

Strip of Danger in Israel

EDITOR'S NOTE — This column was based on material collected during Drew Pearson's recent trip to the Near East.

WASHINGTON — The most inspiring development in the Near East, and the most dynamite-laden when it comes to war, is the water line from the Sea of Galilee, where Christ walked on the water, to the Negev desert near where Moses led the tribes of Israel back to within sight of the Promised Land.

The Promised Land today is not much of a place. It is dry, desolate with not a sign of human habitation save an occasional bedouin tent. But thanks to this amazing irrigation project it soon will be.

I flew over the northern part of the ditch by helicopter. It is a ribbon of white concrete with blue water, a beautiful blue, running miles and miles through brown hills.

Further south as the hills flatten out into plains, you see acres and acres of green corn, tomatoes, and orchards with overhead sprays, the giant garden hose, showing what a few drops of life-giving water can do to a parched land.

And across the border, made by man and policed by man but not visible to the eye, are the fields of Jordan which have no overhead irrigation. They are brown.

This is why over the ribbon of blue hangs the spectre of war.

We left Tel Aviv promptly at 10 a.m. to drive a base near the Sea of Galilee. Israeli engineers are busy, prompt people. Like most of Israel, they are out to get a job done, not loiter around waiting to keep appointments. As we drove north over a brand new thruway, a short-wave radio in the car kept acting director, Yaacov Vardi, a Yugoslav-born Jew, in touch with the main office to correlate movements with a car bringing Dr. Alain Enthoven, a technical adviser to Secretary of Defense McNamara.

We met him at an air force base, then flew to the Sea of Galilee where the controversial pipeline begins.

Seven years ago when I was in Israel, a concrete ditch was being built to tap the headwaters of the Jordan River, up near the Syrian border. Syrian guards looked ominously down from the hills as we inspected the work.

But after the UN Security Council ruled that the Jordan River was an international body of water, the Israelis moved the project down to the Sea of Galilee which is wholly within their territory.

You can stand on a hill overlooking the lake, 120 feet deep and covering 65 square miles, and see the Arab fishing village nestled a few feet from the shore where the Jordan comes down from Lebanon, Syria, and the Arab countries to pour into Galilee. The Syrians are permitted to fish at this end of the sea, and there are occasional clashes between them and the Israelis who control this shoreline all the way around, though in some places only ten meters deep.

This is where there is a day and night watch from the Israeli Kibbutz built on the rocks above the Syrian fishing village; and why young Israeli men and women are on guard day and night. Girls are conscripted into the army for 18 months, boys for 24 months, and they serve together at these outposts.

The Sea of Galilee is 600 feet below sea level. So the irrigation water is pumped through a pipe extending out under the lake, into a settling pool; then 850 feet up over the hills to the concrete ditch which carries the ribbon of blue south to the Negev.

There is a second pumping station to push the water up a total of 1,200 feet. We inspected them. They are built underground, protected by huge concrete bunkers, and should be safe from air attack. Troops are on guard every place not only against Arab attack but sabotage.

The pumps and generators are imported from Switzerland and Israeli engineers have installed them with the care and precision of a Swiss watch. They are taking no chance that their hard-earned dollars and the money borrowed from the USA with Israeli bonds shall be mis-spent.

Officially, the irrigation line has not been opened. Actually "tests" are being made right now. For all intents and purposes, however, the line is open and carrying water 80 miles south.

The ambiguity between "tests" and actual operation is because the Arab states have threatened wars when the long, laboriously built line begins pumping water down to the Negev. Last January a summit conference of Arab leaders was called in Cairo to consider war.

Libya, which is furthest away, was the most belligerent—except for Syria. Jordan and Egypt, which are closest to Israel, were the least belligerent. President Nasser urged caution.

But someday the clash may come. The Sea of Galilee nestling in the brown hills is blue, beautiful, and peaceful. A few fishing boats dot its bosom, pushed by the same type of sail that the fishermen used when Christ performed the miracle of feeding 4,000 men plus women and children from seven loaves and a few fish and had seven baskets left over.

Those placid shores have seen a great deal of history. And they may see more.

John Chamberlain: These Days

The Lint and Cotton Pickers

Unless there is a change in Republican behavior, we can look forward to a campaign this coming Autumn between the cotton-pickin' Democrats and the lint-pickin' Republicans. The Democrats will go about their business of rolling up bales of votes. The Republicans will spend their energies in sterile logic-chopping about the exact meaning of words. And it will bore everybody as it obviously was already boring the man who sat behind me on the plane. "You want to know what an extremist is?" he asked of his companion. "An extremist is anybody who has an opinion."

And that's about it, as the word is tossed about. So let's try to get to opinions, and forget the dirty adjectives. When Goldwater is arguing that "extremism in defense of liberty is no vice," he is thinking of John Hancock signing his name to the Declaration of Independence in letters so bold that King George III can see it without spectacles. When Rockefeller uses the term, he is thinking of hooded Ku Kluxers. There is no communication between the two because of this modern semantic fad of ignoring the intention of a speaker and concentrating on the abstraction that he has chosen, perhaps ill-advisedly, to express a feeling. In Goldwater's case, the feeling is a personal one about liberty.

Like the man in the plane, I'm sick to death of boggling over semantics already. It is enough for me to take a man in the context of his life and his record of behavior. Another reason for disliking lint-picking over words is that it keeps people from looking at the full intention of a speech. Two things in particular in Goldwater's acceptance address at San Francisco seem to have been passed over without notice. One was his statement that "all who can, will be self-reliant." The other was his great stress on the "Atlantic community," by which he meant all the nations that have genuinely free traditions to protect against the Communists of both Moscow and Peking.

The latter is particularly interesting because it struck what I call the "Clarence Streit note." Mr. Streit, who quit his job as a New York Times foreign correspondent some 30 years ago to become a prophet of the movement for a limited federation of the western democracies, has been talking about the "Atlantic community" as our forefathers of 1776 and 1787 once talked about federal union for the 13 original colonies. Barry Goldwater doesn't take the subject quite this far.

But his phraseology about the need to build on the NATO alliance and to link the free peoples of Latin America who are "sympatico" with us into a strong entente that will also include the free peoples of the Pacific seems to come from the pages of Mr. Streit's little magazine, "Freedom and Union." Incidentally, the phrase "Atlantic community" was originally a coinage or pundit Walter Lippman, who can't see Goldwater for dust. A strange irony if you have a taste for the natural history of phrases.

There is a faction among the Goldwaterites who regard any "internationalism," even a NATO-based variety, with distaste. When I called attention to the Clarence Streit strain in the piece on foreign policy which Goldwater contributes to "Life" Magazine last January, I got some outraged letters. But Karl Hess, one of Goldwater's speech writers, acknowledged that the strain was there.

The real mystification is that no important European correspondent in the United States, as far as I know, has seen fit to make anything of Goldwater's impassioned defense of NATO. The European reporters stationed here seem more interested in reflecting the views of the so-called "eastern liberal" journalists as they are tossed around at the National Press Club in Washington.

Goldwater's insistence that "only the strong can be free" forces him to exalt the claims of NATO and the "Atlantic community" over a UN that must produce paralysis any time Khrushchev chooses to exercise a veto. The same insistence led to his statement that "all who can, will be self-reliant." This has domestic implications so large that they must wait on other columns.

How To Talk To the Folks

One of the biggest gripes of strangers visiting New York is their inability to get a friendly answer out of a New Yorker. They try to start a conversation on the street, or on a bus, and—to quote George Solitaire's immortal line—"they get faded with a grunt."

There's a reason for this and I hope you'll understand it. New Yorkers are afraid they're about to be touched for the fare back to West Kneese, Nebraska, and if you had as many panhandlers working your town as we have here, you'd start walking away as soon as an unfamiliar person addressed you, too.

Even a greater barrier to instant palship is the New Yorker's instinctive fear of the out-of-towner's cliché complaints about our city—the million versions of "It's a nice place to visit, but I'd hate to live here." We've heard them all. We know everybody rushes, no one ever walks in leisurely fashion, or sits quietly on the front porch, rocking, or hangs over the farden fence—mainly because we don't have many front porches and our garden fences are likely to be on rooftops. We know how crowded our subways are, how hard it is to get tickets to good shows, how expensive our best restaurants are. We're not too thrilled to hear it from a stranger who's been here for two days, because we've been living with it for years. (And believe it or not, we love it.)

But if you do engage a New Yorker in conversation, you're likely to discover he's mighty friendly, if you are. Tell him how your town has reacted to the amazing popularity of the Mets, who have become a new national institution. Tell him about something you've liked—a shop, a hit musical, a boat ride around Manhattan. Tell him how it feels to be in a city where you can get a decent meal 'way after midnight, if you want one, after living in a place where the only restaurant that stays open late is the diner near the railroad station. We know you'll have complaints, and we understand them, but how about our tall buildings and our pretty girls? Just treat our town the way you'd like us to treat yours, and you'll be amazed at how easily you find an audience.

Some visitors are disappointed because wherever they go, they see nothing but other visitors with cameras hanging around their necks and that unmistakable look of "Where are the real New Yorkers?"

I'll cue you in, if that's what you want. Try Le Caprice, on E. 52nd St., where Bobby Short attracts the most chic audiences. You'll see celebrities, pretty models and their Madison Avenue dates, socialites dressed like the people in Harper's Bazaar. You won't hear "Melancholy Baby" or gems from "Blossom Time," but if you like Cole Porter, Rodgers and Hart, Harold Arlen and the great show tunes of all time, this is your dish. And the decor is as glamorous as the customers.

On an earthier plane, but hip, is Danny's Hideaway on E. 45th St. The food is guaranteed great, from steaks and salads to veal Parmigiana—and the room usually is well-decorated with celebrities. If you don't see comedian Jack E. Leonard, you practically get your money back; Jack Carter, Darryl Zanuck, Carroll Baker, Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacLaine are among the regular. If you get lucky, you may even see Frank Sinatra rip a picture off the wall and throw it on the floor in a temper tantrum—and you can't see that back home, can you? Danny Stradella, the owner, is so modest you may not spot him, but ask for the head-waiter, Pete, and get ready for a sample of the smoothest service in town.

Keeping Well . . .

JUVENILE diabetes usually is severe because the victim is dependent entirely upon insulin. This form of the disease begins before the 20th birthday as a rule and approximately 5 per cent of all diabetics belong in this category. The adult type is different; insulin production is impaired but many get along on antidiabetic pills instead of having to rely upon insulin, as do victims of the juvenile type.

According to Dr. Edwin L. Rippey of Dallas, Texas, there are no known cases of this disorder in newborns. Juvenile diabetes can develop at any time thereafter, one reason it has been called growth onset diabetes.

The outcome was pitiful prior to the discovery of insulin. All died, generally within six months after the disease was detected. Hundreds of those who received the first supplies of insulin some 42 years ago are still alive and in good health.

Prior to the development of diabetes, these children are in good health and of normal weight. Suddenly increased thirst with excessive urination occur. Appetite may remain the same or improve so that more food is consumed. This situation continues for two or three weeks when they begin to lose weight and become apathetic and irritable. These youngsters lose interest in other children and no longer play out of doors or care to go to school.

By this time it is obvious the child is ill and the parents consult the family physician who makes urine and blood tests. The results of treatment are miraculous, especially for the child who has been in a state of temporary starvation.

Diabetes is a lifelong disease and the mother is encouraged to learn all she can about the condition. The child is taught later and, by age 14, is given full responsibility for his diet, insulin requirements, and urine testing. The parents often need more conditioning than the victim. By avoiding overprotection, the boy or girl learns to accept the discipline of being a diabetic.

Mrs. F. P. writes: What causes blisters on the tongue now and then? My mother used to tell me these sores came when I told a lie.

REPLY—These blisters are likely to be canker sores which usually stem from allergies or irritants. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for leaflet on canker sores.

E. R. writes: If German measles develops during pregnancy, will the baby become immune to this disease?

REPLY—Not to my knowledge. The baby may come into the world with a heart defect, deafness, or a cataract of the eyes if the mother had German measles during the first three months of pregnancy.

T. S. writes: What bad effects will follow thumping a 3-year-old on the head with the thumb and middle finger? Isn't this considered cruel and inhuman treatment?

REPLY—Yes. The skull is hard enough to withstand ordinary thumping and if there are no black and blue marks, we can assume there is no damage. Why is it done?

A 'Catholic' Writer's Limitations

Sometimes a tiny hole appears in the Iron Curtain. When this happens, the West applies an eye to it, and often sees nothing more than another eye staring back. The Communists vacillate in their attitude toward the West, but never in their antipathy to God, first to be expelled from Russia.

Therefore, I was surprised a few years ago to see Slavic newspapers serializing a book called "The Day Christ Died." Who okayed it? Yesterday, a letter arrived from a Warsaw editor asking for my views on Catholic writers. He wants to publish the replies. Mieczyslaw Kurzya, of the Kierunki organization, is either brave or insane. Or crafty.

His paper—Pismo Społeczno-Kulturalne Katolików—must be on the suspect list. It is Catholic. If the paper isn't on the suspect list, then it is automatically on mine because the Soviets have managed to induce some priests, some ministers, some rabbis, some patriarchs, to bring Marx and Lenin into their churches as original apostles.

The questions asked by Pan Kurzya are academic. "A vivid discussion," he writes, "has been taking place lately in Poland on what is really meant under the term 'Catholic literature' and what is the extent of its literary sense . . ."

The answer is so simple as to defy understanding. In the United States of America, Catholic literature consists of religious material usually—but not always—published by a Catholic organ. For example: Newman Press, Sheed and Ward, The Sign, Catholic Digest, the diocesan newspapers. It is not always necessary for the writer to be a Catholic, but the material should conform to the views of the Catholic Church, as the publications of other churches conform to theirs.

The newspapers of this country, which are dominated by Protestants, were almost uniform in applauding the work of the Ecumenical Congress, and they publicly mourned the death of John XXIII, but this is not considered "Catholic Literature." In your country, it might be called propaganda, but here it is news. If a priest commits a murder, the story is also covered in our newspapers, although no one calls it anti-Catholic.

"Do you consider that religious faith limits in any way the author's frankness . . .?" No. Any slight bias is in the opposite direction. Jewish writers tend to be overly tender in reporting Catholic stories; Catholic writers are careful not to offend when reporting about Protestant church news. Religious faith, my friend, is something which binds our consciences to our souls; writers are taught by the Bible not to lie; therefore, only a cowardly one would be less than frank in reporting religious news.

A long time ago I wrote a book about religion. It was about Jesus, but it had nothing to do with my Catholicity. The highest compliment it attained was when a Protestant bishop asked the publisher: "What church does the author belong to?" One must always be candid, or risk losing the audience. Writers cannot afford to have prejudices. Publishers can.

"What particular duties are imposed on a Catholic writer in consequence of his faith?" None, other than honesty in his work. No member of the clergy has ever asked me to alter something I wrote, although I recall one bristled a little when I said that, in a red cassock, he looked like an Easter egg. Catholic writers are free to criticize their own group. Pick up a copy of America, a Jesuit weekly, when the writers are in a picky mood.

"What aspects and processes of the modern world should a Catholic writer be concerned with in particular?" All. If he is a journalist, he must learn to become the eyes and ears of his readers, and he cannot do this if he is going to confine himself to "aspects in particular." His horizons are bounded by the stars and confined to a small prison of facts.

His true goal is unattainable; he wants to know everything about everything. You may not be able to comprehend this, because you do not have press freedom in Poland. I met editors in Madrid who feared freedom of the press. They said: "This puts the responsibility on us, and if we publish something we're in trouble." You may feel the government doesn't like, like that about publishing this reply. Please feel free to kill it, but not to edit it.

"Which of your books and personages created in the course of your literary work are you particularly attached to and why?" None. I have written 13 books and cannot call any one a favorite. None of them say exactly what I would like them to say.

Which gives us something in common . . .

Unique Business and Businessman

EDITOR'S NOTE—A 28-year-old student at the University of Pittsburgh is the country's only commercial supplier of targets for nuclear accelerators. This AP spotlight takes a look at George Fodor and his work.

By TOM MOSSER
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 28-year-old Hungarian refugee, still studying for a college degree, already has made his mark in business and scientific circles as the nation's only commercial supplier of targets for nuclear accelerators.

George Fodor is a self-taught physicist who runs — from the basement of his Pittsburgh home—a business which supplies the filmy targets for many universities and national science foundations in the United States and Europe.

"At present, I am the only commercial supplier of the foils in the country," says Fodor. "Many of the institutes make some of their own targets but I'm usually called on to make the more difficult ones."

The foils are inch-square films some 10 to 100 times thinner than a piece of aluminum foil. They're made by a vacuum evaporation process from any natural element and are the only means physicists have of studying the structure of these elements.

As Fodor explains his work, you start with a couple of specks of the given material, evaporate it, let the steam land on a highly polished surface and what forms there is the target.

"They must be had," says the president and only employee of Fodor Accelerator Targets. "You know that's so when you put a building full of equipment costing about $6 million that does nothing else but shoot at your targets."

Fodor expects to get his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the University of Pittsburgh sometime this year. He's a part-time student now.

The company he operates — which brings in about $5,000 annually—is just a sideline. Full-time, he's an employee of Pitt, making its accelerator foils.

"The work is interesting and every foil is a new challenge," he says. "The elements differ from one another and before you start one you must have researched carefully. At home I can only make two or three a week; the hard ones can take up to two weeks each."

But the effort pays off. Fodor has two price categories. The "easy" ones cost the purchaser $75 plus materials (a quantity of the given element smaller than the head of a pin). The "hard" ones are $100 plus the materials which average $300 but can range as high as $2,000 for the rare elements.

Fodor had experience in Hungary with the vacuum-evaporation method used in producing the targets. He worked at a university there for 10 years before coming to his country in 1957. He came to Pitt two years later and began work on the targets.

Fodor plans to study for a master's degree in nuclear physics. "I may be a grandfather when I get it, but I'm going to," he says. He is married, but has no children. His wife serves as company secretary.

Serious Crime on Uptrend in U. S.

By BETTY RICE

Serious crime has increased 10 per cent in volume since last year, according to the FBI's Uniform Crime report. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy has released figures made available by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, which disclosed the sharp trend last year resulted primarily from crimes against property which had an overall eleven per cent rise.

Larceny $50 and over climbed 13 per cent, auto theft 11, burglary 9 and robbery 5. These crimes comprise 92 per cent of the total 92 per cent of the Crime Index offenses. Crimes against the person likewise showed an increase of five per cent as a group with aggravated assault up six per cent and forcible rape and murder one per cent each.

Hoover noted that the continued upswing in crime was consistent in all areas led by the suburban communities up 13 per cent, while the cities averaged a ten per cent rise and rural areas six per cent. Geographically, the trend was uniform.

When considered in relation to our population increase, Hoover pointed out that crime in the United States is increasing five times faster than our population growth. Since 1953, the nation's population rise of 3 per cent has been outstripped by a 40 per cent increase in crime. In 1963 there were 12 serious crimes and victims for every 1,000 persons in the national population.

During 1963, arrests of young persons under 18 years of age for criminal acts, soared 11 per cent. This was the fifth consecutive year to register an increase.

Since 1958 police arrests of juveniles have increased twice as fast as the young age population growth. For all criminal acts, these young offenders made up 17 per cent of all police arrests.

However, persons under 18 were represented in 8 per cent of the arrests for murder, forcible rape 18 per cent, robbery 26 per cent, aggravated assault 14 per cent, burglary 50 per cent, larceny 51 per cent and 63 per cent of the auto theft arrests. Hoover cautioned that, although arrests indicate our young people contribute to a disproportionate share to the crime counts nationally, only 4 out of each 100 young persons actually become involved.

The FBI director called attention to the fact that 88 law enforcement officers died in the line of duty in 1963, 55 of them victims of vicious killers. Since 1960 a total of 168 officers have been murdered as they performed their official tasks. Firearms were used in 162 of these killings, with revolvers and pistols accounting for 131 of the deaths and rifles and shotguns 31. Knives, clubs and other weapons were responsible for the six remaining.

Property stolen in 1963 through robbery, burglary and larceny exceeded $785 million. Hoover stated the annual cost of crime in the United States is now conservatively estimated to be $27 billion. This updates an earlier estimate made five years ago.

Hoover concluded by stating, "If we are to reverse our national crime trend, the average citizen must have a better comprehension of its cost in human suffering and economic loss. We are all directly involved, yet to

Notes from A Survivor

WASHINGTON—When you tell someone from the East that you were at the Republican convention in San Francisco, you get the same reaction as if you told them you were on the Andrea Doria.

"What was it really like?" our friends ask, quaking. "It wasn't too bad," we say, trying to stiffen our upper lip.

"Weren't you frightened?" "I guess I'd be a liar if I said I wasn't scared, but once I was in the Cow Palace I tried not to think about it."

"What frightened you the most?"

"When Sen. Dirksen called Sen. Goldwater 'a peddler's grandson.' I didn't know what the reaction of the crowd would be. Dirksen kept repeating it, too. It was really scary."

"What did you think of Gen. Eisenhower's attack on columnists and commentators?"

"Well, I've always said that anyone who gives you a column for Thursday can't be all bad."

"Nixon attacked the columnists, too."

"I know and it was very disappointing to me because Nixon has always said he never deals in personalities. One had the feeling in San Francisco that the Republicans were running against the columnists instead of the Democrats."

"Outside of Eisenhower's attack on the columnists, what did you think of his performance there?"

"It was memorable."

"Is that all you can say about it?"

"I think so."

"How did you feel about their booing Rockefeller?"

"I didn't see anything wrong with that. Everyone has wanted to boo a Rockefeller sometime in his life."

"What impressed you the most about the convention?"

"The speeches, particularly the seconding speeches for the various candidates. Only a moderate would not have been moved by them."

"How did the people in the Cow Palace react to Sen. Goldwater's statement that extremism in defense of liberty is no vice?"

"I thought some of them were a little disappointed. The phrase 'in defense of liberty' confused a lot of them. The feeling among most extremists is that if you have to qualify extremism, then it isn't extreme. Frankly, I saw a lot of unhappy faces."

"Do you think Sen. Goldwater expected the reaction he received after saying it?"

"I don't know, but someone said that the statement did put the Senator in the main ex-stream of Republican thinking."

"Were you ever bored?"

"Only during the spontaneous demonstrations."

"What do you think Gov. Scranton's biggest mistake was?"

"Giving his staff postage money so that they could write their own letters to Barry Goldwater."

"Do you believe it's going to be a tough campaign?"

"I don't think so. Particularly since moderation is no longer the issue."

James Marlow's World Today

GOP Needs New Faces

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater loses the 1964 election the Republican party will have to search for a whole new batch of likely presidential prospects.

With the possible exception of Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, the familiar figures of this year, and past years, seem washed out: Nixon, Rockefeller, Lodge.

Scranton at the end was Goldwater's only active rival for the Republican presidential nomination. He didn't make a glittering race of it.

Even allowing for his late start, much of his effort seemed wishy-washy and his campaign badly organized. But he is only 47. The presidential bug could bite him again although it took some biting this time to get him started.

Besides Goldwater and Scranton only Nixon, Rockefeller and Lodge seemed to have even a remote chance for the nomination. All were figures from the past.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is only 51, which would seem to give him time for another try or two, except for what happened to him.

Although he lost the presidency to Sen. John F. Kennedy in 1960, it was so close he might have been in a favorite spot for the No. 1 role again if he hadn't failed in a try for the governorship of California in 1962. His balloon went down.

A close loss of the presidency is one thing. But to lose the gubernatorial contest could be, and in his case seemed to be, a fatal blow.

He probably didn't endear himself to Scranton or Goldwater. He called the former a puppet and tried to stir up opposition to Goldwater. The senator said he sounded "more and more like Harold Stassen."

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 56, will be 60 when the 1968 election comes. But after what happened to him this year 1968 will probably be just a date on the calendar.

He was the one sturdy Republican who fought Goldwater through the primaries, campaigning hard. He beat the senator in Oregon, lost to him in California, and then dropped out when Goldwater's strength seemed too much.

This was his second frustration and second withdrawal. He made sounds like a candidate in 1960 but Nixon had such an inside track for the nomination that Rockefeller pulled out without even trying.

If nothing else, age alone would knock Henry Cabot Lodge out of the picture next time. He is 62 now, will be 66 then. He was very unimpressive this year, except for a short time after he won the New Hampshire primary over Goldwater and Rockefeller.

Lodge won there without declaring himself a candidate and while he was still U. S. ambassador in far-off South Viet Nam. When Rockefeller beat him in the Oregon primary, that finished him.

He quit as ambassador to come home, he said, to help Scranton beat Goldwater. But he wasn't very dynamic after he got here. If he thought the lightning might strike him, he was probably the only one who did.

Yet, at the moment, there is no one in sight who could reasonably be said to be the man to replace these familiar figures from the past.

As We Forgive

A fine specimen of young manhood... maybe my neighbor or maybe yours. He is not a bad boy, just one without training. His parents don't like the church and actually boast of never attending. What a tragedy. How unfair to the children of such homes... to put "Other Gods first." This lad needs love, direction, guidance. He needs forgiveness, for only "as we forgive can we be forgiven." Police officers, "Big Brothers" and good church people help but it also requires being acquainted with God. Have you asked the court to parole a boy to you instead of allowing him to go to jail? Maybe he needs just one more chance. The manifold mercies of Heaven are available, if a man, woman or child will turn in good purpose to Him. The church on the corner can help any boy, or girl, or man, or woman. Won't you see for yourself?

You In The Church... The Church In You
Form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. Be a faithful worker. Attend every service.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

It's a woman's world . . . even now. And the secret that makes it hers lies in that pensive look. In a second, it may change—into a beguiling laugh—or perhaps a shy smile. Today, our bank has a savings account in her name. Someday—when she's a big girl like mother—she'll reap the benefits of that savings account. She'll continue to enjoy the advantages of safety, of profit, of the availability of her savings.

Yes, even now she's learning that changing mind or mood is a woman's own prerogative. But you can be sure that there's one thing she'll never change her mind about. That's the good sense in saving. Whether it's for a toy today . . . or a trossieu tomorrow.

FUNLAND

Take a Chance, Folks!!

TO WIN at the wheel of chance at left you must be lucky 21 consecutive times! Sound impossible? Don't be worried, folks, it's a whole lot easier than it seems. Beginning with any number on the wheel, call that number 1, and count 1, 2, 3, etc., in a clockwise direction. When your count agrees with the number met, cross out that number. Then, begin at the next number, calling that number 1, and proceeding 2, 3, 4, etc., as before, halting with the next number that coincides with the count. Object, of course, is to proceed in this manner until you have eliminated all 21 numbers—without exceeding a 21 count. That is to say, without counting beyond 21 before attaining a number that coincides.

Now, the big question is where to start. Select the right number and you can't miss. But there are 21 numbers to choose from. Have fun!

AN OFF-POSED baffler that still trips many up is stated as follows: A man starts from a given point. If each time that he takes two steps forward he must take one backward, how many steps must he take to reach a point five steps ahead of his starting point?

ANSWER: He must take eleven steps in all.

JUNIOR'S FACING UPS & DOWNS

IN order to earn his allowance each week, Junior helps with chores around the house. Right now, he's helping Dad with some work in the back yard. What's he doing? Here's a hint: It's a job that has its ups and downs.

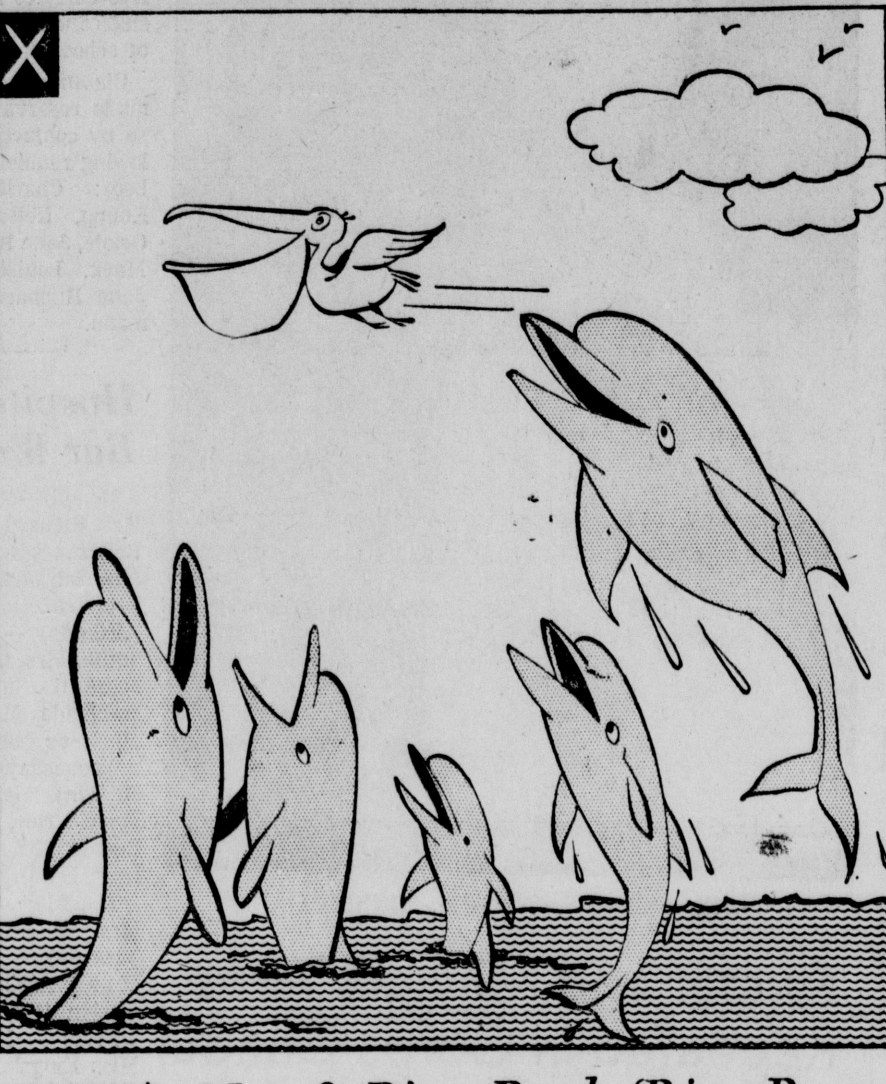

See if you can guess what it is, then finish the drawing by adding lines to see if you are right. Here's how: Begin at dot 1, draw to dot 2, then to 3, 4 and so on, until you have touched at all of the numbered dots. Afterwards, you may wish to add colors. Speaking of chores, how quickly can you name an occupation for each letter of the word "work"?

FEED THE PORPOISES?

A PESKY pelican threatens to snap up every morsel of food being thrown to the friendly porpoises at right. Will you please lend a hand in feeding them?

Here's how: Place point of your pencil at the X in upper left hand corner. Now, close your eyes and attempt to draw a line to the mouth of a porpoise—avoiding the pelican's beak. That is to say, start at X, close eyes, etc. See how many porpoises you can feed without crossing lines or encountering pelican en route.

Lunch with the Reds

LOS ANGELES — If Barry and his boys had caught us, you shudder to think of the consequences. But there we were, face to face at lunch, with 78 members of the Soviet track and field delegation who have come here for exercises with the U. S. this weekend.

The welcoming meal fell short of a sumptuous repast. With a colossus of capitalism — a local newspaper — serving as host, you sort of looked for black caviar, green turtle soup, lobster supreme and strawberries Romanoff, with, of course, the proper wines.

Instead, we got two slabs of cold beef draped over some cottage cheese. And reposing on top was a bunch of grapes.

A fibreglass pole would have tasted better, and, regrettably, we must exhort the sponsor never to invite us dignitaries to lunch again.

The meeting was a paragon of State Department correctness. Memories were not refreshed, for instance, of the U-2, or of hidden mikes in the embassy, and praise for all was extravagant, even for the American press.

Leonid Khomencov, vice-chairman of sports in the Soviet Union, thanked reporters for their fair representation of Russian athletes, and he concluded, "and we wish you success in your work."

Newsman had to admit that this was an improvement over the way they fared at the recent Republican Convention.

Ruble Doesn't Go Far

The Soviet and American athletes are quartered in a women's residence hall on the University of Southern California campus, living in complete togetherness.

Almost at least, they are segregated (a) by country and (b) by sex, but otherwise are residing under the same roof and eating the same cuisine.

Operating under the auspices of the AAU, the visitors are allowed $2 a day for movement money, which doesn't figure to shift the balance of purchasing power to their side.

In other words, no American manufacturer need be intimidated by the threat of boycott on the part of any group functioning on an AAU bankroll.

An American dollar is worth roughly one ruble in the USSR.

"A ruble won't go very far in this country," we observed apologetically to Mr. Vladimir Popov, a former Soviet Olympian now serving as an assistant coach. Mr. Popov speaks English.

"A ruble won't go very far in our country, either," he answered. "Two rubles will buy you a dinner that isn't so good."

"Two rubles here will buy you heartburn, too," we said.

"In some places in Moscow," he replied, "you pay 20 rubles for dinner."

We saw no purpose in topping Mr. Popov's story because he is a pleasant, handsome young man with a demeanor genuinely friendly.

Team Now More Relaxed

He assists the head coach of the Soviet team, Gavril Korobkov, who has served in that capacity for the last 10 years. Korobkov has announced his retirement from the job at the end of the 1964 Olympics.

Asked why he is quitting, he explained, characteristically for a coach, that the strain and pressure of winning has been getting too heavy. Informed that coaches in this country must win or else, he was asked if he encountered the same problem.

He said no, which suggests that deathless anecdote of World War II in which the captured U. S. officer was ordered to appear on the radio broadcast of Tokyo Rose and tell the American troops that his treatment as a prisoner was ideal.

"They are treating me positively great," he said in the air. "Tell it to the Army, tell it to the Navy, tell it to the Marines."

Those who have watched the Soviets in international competition over the last eight years or so have noted sharp changes. Their manner, to start with, is infinitely more relaxed. At Melbourne — their first Olympics — they comported themselves like blackjack dealers who were being watched through a two-way mirror.

Today in a foreign country they are easy-going, almost gay.

Then their dress is more westernized than ever. Where the cut of the men's suits once projected the image of potato farmers in Minsk on a Sunday afternoon, the gents today are sharp in their togs, American in style.

The boys are even wearing sports shirts, proving that they are no Rubins. They know all about living in Los Angeles.

Bucs Sweep Cardinals; Reds Next

Tom Sisk Spiked On Ankle

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates have left St. Louis and the Cardinals' pitching staff was probably glad to see them go.

The Pirates completed a three-game series and sweep—with St. Louis Thursday.

balls as the Bucs pounded out 46 hits and scored 31 runs.

Thursday, Pittsburgh hammered out 16 hits off four St. Louis pitchers and beat the Cardinals, 8-5.

Pittsburgh, with a firm grip on fourth place, invades Cincinnati tonight for a four-game series. The Bucs are still six games out of first but only trail the third-place Reds by a game and a half.

It wasn't too easy nailing down the final St. Louis game even though the Pirates staked starter Don Schwall to three runs in the first inning on four hits and an error.

St. Louis quickly tied it up in their half of the inning on five hits, two Buc errors and a walk.

The Pirates scored the go-ahead run in the fourth on a single by Bill Mazeroski and Jim Pagliaroni's triple. They added three more runs in the fifth.

Bill Virndon started the fifth inning with a homer. Donn Clendenon doubled and then Card pitcher Glen Hobbie walked three Pirate batters in a row. Rookie pitcher Steve Bass scored the final run with an infield single. Bass picked up the victory, his fourth in 10 decisions.

The Cards, who got 13 hits themselves, closed it to 7-5 in the seventh when they scored two runs. Elroy Face relieved Bass and preserved the victory.

Bob Bailey added an insurance run in the eighth for the Pirates with a homer.

The Pirates, however, received some bad news. Pitcher Tom Sisk suffered a spike wound of the right ankle in the third inning.

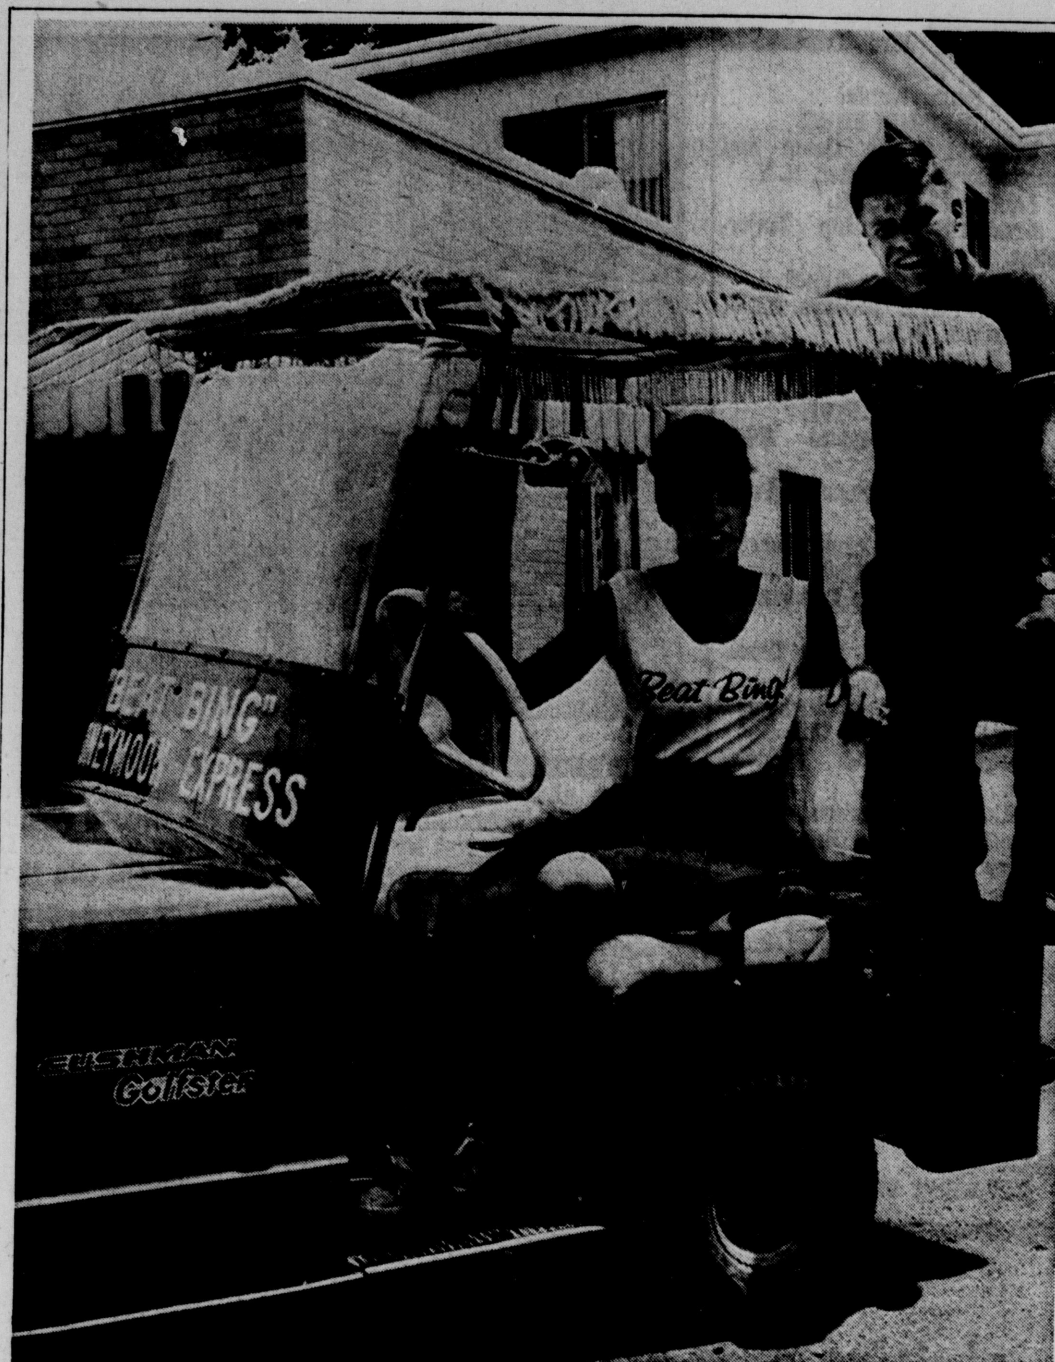

He covered first base on a ground ball to first and was spiked by Runner Dick Groat who was out.

Trainer Danny Whelan said the injury required some stitches and that the relief pitcher would be sidelined for about a week.

Tonight Bob Friend (8-9) is scheduled to go against the Reds' Jim O'Toole (10-4).

Rookie Helps Athletics; Yanks Lose, Birds Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Berto Campaneris, a 21-year-old Cuban, made an emergency overnight trip to join the Kansas City Athletics, who had lost shortstop Wayne Causey in a baseline accident.

Shortly after arriving Thursday, Campaneris clouted two homers and a single, driving in three runs, as the Athletics nipped Minnesota 4-3 in 11 innings. The rookie also walked and stole a base while the Twins dropped their eighth consecutive game.

In the first inning, in his first major league time at bat, Jim Kaat's first pitch came in, and Campaneris slammed it over the left field fence.

That made the shortstop only the sixth player in major league history to hit a home run on the first pitch.

Then in the seventh inning, he again hit a Kaat pitch over the left field fence, this time with a man on. That hit gave him the distinction of being only the second in modern history to hit two homers in his first game.

Bob Nieman did it with the St. Louis Browns in 1951.

Curiously enough, one of the other five players to hit a first-pitch homer was Hoyt Wilhelm. The veteran pitcher got a key single Thursday in Chicago's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles in another 11-inning contest.

Elsewhere in the AL, Washington edged New York 2-1, Baltimore trounced Cleveland 7-1 and Boston trimmed Detroit 4-3. Campaneris' second homer tied the game 3-3 after Harmon Killebrew's 34th homer with two aboard gave the Twins a 3-1 lead in the sixth inning. Doc Edwards won it for the Athletics.

NFL's Rozelle Picks Orioles, Phils for Series

NEW YORK (AP)—A reporter asked National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle Thursday night if he thought there'd be a world series in the next six or seven years.

Obviously, the reporter referred to the rival American Football League's campaign for a world title game between champions of the two leagues.

Rozelle smiled and replied: "We have one now. In October — probably between Baltimore and the Philadelphia Phillies."

Then in the 11th, Mike Hersberger walked, went to second on Wilhelm's single and scored on Tom McCraw's single.

The Yankees held a 1-0 lead until the eighth. At that point the Senators loaded the bases on a double and two walks, and pinch hitter Jim King lashed a single, driving in two runs.

The Orioles moved to within five percentage points of the first-place Yankees behind Roberts in Roberts, Sam Bowens and Dick Brown.

Roberts pitched a five-hitter for his eighth victory against four defeats. Bowens drove in four runs with a two-run single in the first inning and a two-run homer in the third while Brown smashed solo homers in the sixth and in the eighth.

Boston edged Detroit on Felix Mantilla's sixth-inning home run. Bullpen ace Dick Radatz preserved Dave Morehead's sixth victory in 16 decisions, coming on in the eighth inning when the Tigers scored two runs on a walk, Dick Stuart's error and a single by Bill Frehan.

Cubs Belt SF, 13-4; Phillies Down Braves

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy O'Dell went out to the mound Thursday for San Francisco, retired Chicago's Billy Cowan on a grounder to start the game — and then didn't get out of trouble until he got under a shower seven innings and 12 runs later.

The Cubs finished off a 13-4 triumph against Jim Duffalo, dropping the Giants two games behind the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies — the biggest edge either contender has had since June 21.

While he was in there, O'Dell was tagged for 11 hits, including three homers, three doubles and a triple. The homers were hit by Billy Williams, Len Gabrielsen

Terronez Hopes for 4th Upset

NEW YORK (AP)—Gabe Terronez of Fresno, Calif., hopes to make it four upsets in a row at Madison Square Garden tonight when he takes on favored Jose Stabile of Cuba in a 10-round welterweight match.

Stabile, Cuban-born but now based in New York, is favored on the basis of his No. 2 ranking as a challenger to champion Emile Griffith.

In the last three weeks, Wayne Thornton whipped Eddie Cotton, Ernie Terrell knocked out Bob Foster and Johnny Bizarro whipped Frankie Narvaez. All three winners were underdogs.

Stabile hopes to move on to a title fight with Griffith before the year is over. His record is 23-2-1.

Terronez, recent grad of Fresno City College and a future language teacher, has a 23-4 record. He will be making his Garden debut in the match to be seen on network (ABC) television at 9 p.m. EST.

California Man Takes Lead in Sailing Races

MARION, Mass. (AP) — Bob Andre of San Diego, Calif., scoring two firsts and a third on the opening day of the North American single-handed sailing championship, took a 5 1/4 point lead for the O'Dea Trophy Thursday.

In second place in the competition which will consist of 10 races sailed in Finn Class catboats is Fred Miller of Newport Harbor, Calif., with 53 points. Ferdinand (Andy) Schoettle of Mantoloking, N.J., is third with 50.

and pitcher Lew Burdette, who also touched O'Dell for a triple and a single.

While the Cubs slowed down against Duffalo—only five hits in two innings—Burdette kept at a good thing and smacked another single for four hits on the day. Asked when he had last collected four hits, Burdette said:

"In 1921."

The Phillies, meanwhile, played ricochet with Milwaukee and finally defeated the Braves 13-10 in 10 innings. Third-place Cincinnati ended a five-game losing streak to New York by beating the Mets 5-4. Pittsburgh hammered 16 hits for an 8-5 victory over St. Louis and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Houston 5-4.

While O'Dell was laboring, Burdette was breezing. He had a 12-0 lead before the Giants scored, eventually was tagged for homers by Orlando Cepeda and Jim Hart but had little difficulty bringing his record to 7-2. It was his sixth victory since he was traded to the Cubs by St. Louis.

Johnny Callison hit two homers for the Phillies, accounting for five runs, and Gene Oliver and Denis Menke connected for the Braves before the lead changed hands three times in the last two innings.

In the 10th, winning pitcher Jack Baldschun singled and Richie Allen, who had made two costly errors in the eighth and ninth, beat out an infield hit. Co-okie Rojas followed with a two-run double that snapped the tie. Rojas eventually scored on two passed balls by catcher Ed Bailey.

The Reds beat the Mets with the aid of two errors, the decisive run scoring in the sixth on errors by Rod Kanehl and Charlie Smith sandwiched around a single by John Edwards.

Reds' starter Jim Maloney checked the Mets on five hits and struck out nine in six innings before he had to leave with a strained back. Bob Purkey and Bill Henry finished up.

Bob Bailey and Bill Virndon each collected a homer among their three hits as the Pirates thumped Mike Cuellar and three successors. Pittsburgh wound up the three-game series at St. Louis with 46 hits and 31 runs.

The Dodgers trailed 4-2 going into the ninth when Nate Oliver's single, a walk and Maury Wills' single produced a run. Willie Davis then beat out an infield hit, loading the bases, and Ron Fairly wrapped it up with a two-out, two run single. It was his third hit of the night.

Happy Birthday, Don, Your Finger's Broken

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Better skip Saturday," Don Drysdale was told.

"Why, because we're playing the Giants?" Drysdale asked, grinning.

No, said the doctor, because your finger's fractured.

That's the news the right-handed ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching staff received Thursday—on his 28th birthday.

Drysdale's injury, which will keep him idle for about 10 days, was just one of five serious injuries that sidelined key personnel.

Philadelphia Phillies lost .300-hitting Danny Cater for at least six weeks and possibly the rest of the season, Baltimore pitcher Chuck Estrada and St. Louis hurler Ray Washburn were placed on the disabled list and Kansas City lost shortstop Wayne Causey for 10 days.

Drysdale suffered a hairline fracture at the base of his right thumb while shagging flies Wednesday night before the game against Houston.

Drysdale, who has a 12-9 record for the eighth-place Dodgers, said he "hurt the thumb" "trying to pick up a ball that took a skip and stayed down."

Cater broke his left wrist Wednesday night in a collision with Milwaukee's Joe Torre at first base. Cater tripped over Torre's arm as the first baseman reached for a low throw. He will be out at least six weeks.

Estrada, a 26-year-old right-hander who won 18 games in 1960 and 15 in 1961, underwent an operation last year to remove a bone spur and calcium deposits from his elbow. The arm has not responded and Estrada had pitched only 52 innings, and is 3-1.

Washburn, a promising youngster who was sidelined most of last season with arm trouble, complained of pain while pitching against the Pirates. X rays showed calcification of his right shoulder joint. Washburn had a 3-4 record this season.

Causey, hitting .290, had an accident similar to Cater's but escaped with less serious injuries. Causey's left elbow was injured in a collision with Minnesota first baseman Bob Allison.

Hot Stove Results

Savings-Loan Upset
The Timmis Brothers entry in the Eastern Division upset Northwest Savings & Loan to move into the first-place tie with their opponents. Both of the teams have records of 11-2 for the season. Tom Carlson was the winning hurler in tossing a one-hitter and Danny Knapp supplied all the extra base power with a double. Mike Donovan was the defensive star in the game when he grabbed a low line on his shoe tops to save an extra base ball. Corky Reynolds was the losing hurler and the only hit for the losers was a bunt single.

Segels Beaten, 7-1
The Auto Body came through with a 7-1 thrashing over Segel & Sons. Bob Mahan starred on the mound and picked up the victory with a three-hitter. Bob Owen laced a triple and Mike Work cracked two of them to carry the victors over Dick Smith, the losing hurler. Danny Pasquarette made two defensive plays as shortstop in major league style to rob Jim Tome and Mike Work of base knocks.

Throws Two-Hitter
The Blue Manor Restaurant walked away with a 2-4-2 trouncing over Warren County Dairy. Nicky Wendelboe was the winning hurler in tossing a neat two-hitter. Wendelboe, John Yurick, Joe Helfrich, Dean Spiridon, Joe Baker and Dave Shortt led the hitting attack for Blue Manor. Spiridon had the game's only round tripper. Cole and Owens had the only hits for the dairy men.

Elks 'Bagged,' 25-5
Warren Car still rolls along in the Western Midget League in the first place slot and this time they managed to bag the Elks Club, 25-5. Tom Regina and Bob Piccerillo laced doubles for the winners and Chuck Loomis, Lou Vizza and Robbie Hughes connected with triples. Chuck Loomis was the winning pitcher with relief help from Sam Regina and Mark Salerno. The Elks Club came up with their five runs in the bottom of the sixth inning led by the hitting of Tom Ressler, Mark Krumm and Pat McCoy. Ressler suffered the defeat for the Elks.

Robin Roberts' 266th Career Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—When Cleveland pinch hitter Fred Whitfield sliced a hit off the left field wall Thursday night, Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson yelled to Oriole pitcher Robin Roberts:

"Well, you held him to a double, anyhow."

It wasn't dissension in the ranks. Just a bit of friendly needling on a team battling for the American League lead.

"With a six-run lead, Brooks thought he would throw that in there," Roberts said after he had whipped the Indians 7-1. "He thought he was being funny."

The victory by the 37-year-old Oriole right-hander was a big one. It ended a three-game losing streak, enabled the Orioles to regain a virtual first-place tie with the New York Yankees, and provided a tired Baltimore bullpen staff with a much needed rest.

It was also the 266th major league victory for Roberts, moving him into an 18th place tie with Bob Feller and Eppa Rixey on the all-time list of winners.

"I can't remember many statistics," Roberts said, "but I do know that Whitfield is 11-for-13 against me over the past two seasons. He's only mixed in a couple of singles. Brooks didn't know the totals, but he knew Whitfield hits me hard."

Rookie Sam Bowens knocked in four runs with a single and homer, and Dick Brown socked two solo homers in support of Roberts, who hurled a five-hitter to bring his record to 8-4.

Make-Up Games Must Be Played Before July 29

The Upper Allegheny Hot Stove League has instructed its teams to get all postponed games played as soon as possible — or else.

The league said today that all make-up games must be played by July 29 as the sixth annual Benefit Day is fast approaching and championships must be determined by then.

League officials said that any make-up game not played by July 29 will be forfeited to the visiting team.

Plans for the Benefit Day, to be held Aug. 8 on Wilder Field, were reported to be progressing well. There will be no admission charge this year but there will be a free-will collection taken.

Championship playoffs will be featured in the bantam, midget and cadet leagues while an all-star game will be played between the intermediate and junior divisions. A girls' softball game between the Irvine Angels and the Grand Valley Valiants will follow.

All candy sale winners going to Pittsburgh Aug. 1 are reminded to be at the Warren YMCA at 8 a.m. or the Youngsville National Bank at 8:30 a.m. to be picked up by the bus.

The managers of all championship teams are requested to be at the next meeting of the league at 8:30 p.m. July 29 at the YMCA.

'Very Happy' Rookie Belts KC to Victory

MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL (AP) — The little shortstop with the big, long name, and the big, long hits is Dagoberto Campaneris of the Kansas City Athletics.

Campaneris, barely off the plane after emergency summons from Birmingham, smacked a home run on his first pitch in the major leagues. He homered again to tie the score en route to a 4-3 11-inning victory for the A's over the Minnesota Twins Thursday.

Campaneris, 21, is in his third season of organized baseball. He's a Cuban, whisked from the Southern League to the A's overnight after a baseline collision Wednesday benched shortstop Wayne Causey.

Roughly translated through interpreter Orlando Peña, Campaneris said his first homer made him "so happy."

As he circled the bases on his second clout in the seventh inning, the youngster said, "I'm even happier."

Told he was only the second man in baseball to hit two homers in his first major league game, Campaneris grinned: "When I hear that, it makes me even happier."

He showed some slick fielding, too, along with a bit of muscle as he knocked down outfielder Ken Harrelson in the ninth inning to chase a fly ball by Jimmie Hall.

The Twins were leading 3-1 for Jim Kaat going into the seventh when Charlie Shoemaker singled and Campaneris slapped his second homer.

Only other player to record the feat was Bob Nieman of the St. Louis Browns on Sept. 1, 1951.

Kaat said Campaneris hit a fast ball for one homer and a low curve for the second.

Despite the rookie heroics, it was a homer by catcher Doc Edwards in the 11th inning off reliever Gerry Arrigo that won the game for the A's and sent the Twins reeling to their eighth straight loss. It was Edwards' first homer of the season.

Busy Bee Still Undefeated

The Busy Bee Mets continue to roll along in the Western Division of the Recreation Softball League undefeated, last night defeating the Jaycees, 5-4. It was the Mets' sixth straight win without a loss in the second half.

In other Recreation Softball League action, the Warren Sports Boosters won their first game of the second half knocking off Dorcon, 9-2.

Tomassoni's Nursery, a strong entry in the first half in the City Softball League but slipping badly in the second half, lost another last night, this time to second-place Struthers Hose, 5-3. Struthers built their lead up to 4-1 at the end of the third, scored another in the fourth as Tomassoni's scored their last two. Dave Kovac got the win, Jim McMeans the loss. The latter also had the only extra base hit of the night, a double.

The Mets headed into the last of the sixth inning trailing by a run. However, a two-run uprising put the Mets ahead to stay. A Jaycee rally in the seventh was cut short. Mickey Dee and Mark Bevevino had doubles, the only extra base hits of the night. Bevevino recorded the loss, Roger Mahaffey the win.

The Sports Boosters finally got back on the winning trail with a 19-hit attack off loser Lee Weidmaier. Dorcon scored its two runs in the bottom of the second and it was all Sports Boosters after that. Jerry Cor-bran went four-for-four at the plate for the winners including two doubles. Deane Passmore, Stan Lyle and Samataris also had doubles. Agate Viglo got the win.

Record Set At Yonkers By 'Ayres'

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Harnessed racing fans talked of another great 3-year-old trotter while looking ahead to a rubber match tonight between two of the sports' foremost pacers—Overtrick and Cardigan Bay—at Yonkers Raceway.

"Great, marvelous, one of the best in history," were just a few of the phrases tossed about after Ayres, from the stable of Mrs. Charlotte N. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., sped one mile in 2:13.5 for a track record for 3-year-old trotters in taking the $116,691.25 Yonkers Futurity Thursday night. The old mark was 2:03.

Johnny Simpson, who drove the flashy son of Star's Pride-Arpege, called Ayres the equal of Scott Frost and Speedy Scot. They are the only two horses to win trotting's Triple Crown. Scott Frost did it in 1955, Speedy Scot in 1963. Ayres gets his chance in the Hambletonian Sept. 2 and the Kentucky Futurity Oct. 9.

The colt's next start, however, will be Aug. 7 at the Meadows, Washington, Pa. He picked up $64,081.19 for the Yonkers Futurity to run his record to five victories in six starts this year and his total bankroll to $116,499.

Speedy Scot looked as if he would battle Ayres to the wire but weakened in the stretch and finished second, beaten by 3/4 lengths. Dartmouth was another 1/4 lengths back in third place. Ayres went the last one-half mile in 57.45 seconds with the final quarter in 29 flat.

"It was the first time I ever left with him," said Simpson. "We didn't have to go the first half very fast and I had plenty of horse all the way."

Another thrilling race is in prospect for tonight's $25,000 Dan Patch Encore Pace. Overtrick shaded Cardigan Bay in the 1 1/2 miles of the International Pace in May but the $100,000 New Zealand purchase edged his American rival a week ago with a track record performance of 1:58 1-5.

Overtrick, who has been under the magic two-minute barrier 14 times, has eight wins and three seconds in 11 races and winnings of $145,283 to show for his work this season. Cardigan Bay has won $108,000 since coming to this country last spring and will go into tonight's race with a record of five wins, one second and two thirds in eight American starts.

Henry T. Adios, Cold Front, Adios Ronnie and Adora's Dream round out the field.

Sports Boosters Meet, Plan Grid Programs

The Warren Sports Boosters got the ball rolling last night in the YMCA for its fall campaign with plans for a souvenir program taking most of the meeting's time.

The dozen members present at the meeting discussed the project for almost an hour and a half laying plans for the programs which will be sold at home football games of Warren Area High School.

The program will include the starting line-ups of both teams, pictures of the players and coaches and brief write-ups concerning the terms and their records.

The Sports Boosters are working on the programs in co-operation with the high school student council. The Boosters will sell all ads for the program, the students handling the sale of the programs.

Booster officials stated that the program would be supported by ads from industry, business establishments and individuals. Solicitation for the ads will begin in the near future, it was reported.

Geiberger Leading in ICO Match

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Last week, Bobby Nichols won the PGA Golf Tournament at Columbus, Ohio, with a $5 putter that brought him $18,000 in prize money.

Earlier this month, Champagne Tony Lema won the British Open at St. Andrews, Scotland, with a putter he borrowed from Arnold Palmer.

At the $50,000 Insurance City Open on Wethersfield Country Club course, Al Geiberger, using a putter he traded for a set of woods, Thursday needed only 26 putts and collected seven birdies for a seven-under-par 64 and the first round lead.

Geiberger used his putter to find the cup at ranges of six to 15 feet.

It gave him a two-stroke lead over Al Bessellink, Jim Ferree, Jack Rule and Bert Yancy, tied with 66s.

Ken Venturi, the National Open champion, and Nichols, half of the new big four in golf—Palmer and Lema are the others—trailed by six strokes. Julius Boros, Sam Snead and Billy Casper were tied at 69.

The pros were as hot as the steaming weather with 63 posting sub-par scores at the par 36-71, 6,569-yard course.

'Sportsmen' Championship At Stateline on Saturday

SUGAR GROVE — A 50-lap championship race for sportsmen-class cars will be the feature of the week at Stateline Speedway Saturday night with the action slated to get under way at 8:30.

Ten other races are also on the card including a 25-lap feature for late-model stock cars. The 50-lap championship event, the Mid-Season Championship for sportsmen, will be last on the bill.

Youngville's Ronny Blackmer has been having things pretty much to himself lately. Last week he finished a very close second to Fred Clark of Erie but otherwise has been cleaning house.

Things this week may be a little different. Stroker McGurk, the North Collins (N.Y.) speedster, will be returning to action after building a new engine for his racer. McGurk blew his old engine a few weeks back at Erie Speedway in Erie and has been out of action since.

Contacted earlier this week, McGurk said he expected to give the new engine a test run Friday night getting ready for Saturday's 50-lap feature.

McGurk has been a consistent winner in the older-class cars always finishing inside the top five of every feature he entered at Stateline, unless for some reason he didn't finish at all. Most of the time, as a matter of fact, he has come out on top.

His more powerful engine has been no match for Blackmer's in the past. However, McGurk never raced against Ronnie with the new engine Blackmer has installed in his car. It will actually be like a first meeting all over again for the two drivers.

Not to be counted out of the race will be the Thompson-built fire-engine red coupes (numbers 38 and 39) out of Sugar Grove being driven by Paul Wilson and Johnny Whitehead. The latter driver has been having a considerable amount of luck since he started driving for the Thompson stable.

Also in contention for the first place money will be Dick Gilbert of Westfield, Clark, Mike Komarski of Erie and a host of other drivers. Well over thirty cars are expected for the race.

In the late-models, the battle for leadership will once again resume with Blackmer, winner of three features, the favorite. The green flag drops for the first race at 8:30 p.m.

The point standings for late-models through last Saturday night at Stateline only follows:

DRIVER	PTS.
1. Ronnie Blackmer	1,068
2. Bobby Schnars	928
3. Chuck Piazza	920
4. Squirt Jozza	908
5. Freddy Knapp	888

7. Marty Rater	824

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State and Defense Departments are making it easier for American newsmen to cover the war in South Viet Nam.

They are flying small groups of from two to four newsmen to the Asian country for visits of from 10 to 14 days. They are provided with public affairs officers to assist them and helicopters to fly to battle areas.

The new policy follows increasingly critical reports about the way the South Vietnamese government, aided by the United States, was fighting the war against the Communist Viet Cong rebels.

The first group of newsmen invited by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is currently in Viet Nam and another group is due to leave Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negroes earn only about one-half as much as white workers in the United States, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Thursday.

Letter To The Editor

This certainly proves to me that the Bureau is in a sorry state indeed when they can take over a month to process an application and then issue a letter that they have no record of it. Perhaps I made a mistake by not purchasing the so called "fast service" which has grown up to capitalize on and push thru applications. Since I'm not a member of the local club, which I'm told is the most effective, I couldn't obtain their services.

I'm sure my story is a common one, but many forget the experience once they receive their applications in hopes the Bureau will improve before they have to go thru it again.

I'd like to see a start made in this direction and eliminate the need to pay a fee for a service we already pay a fee to have performed.

What favors these agencies give in return for the "fast service" they receive from the Bureau might be interesting to investigate. At any rate the agencies who receive these fees are certainly competing with and slowing down all other normal flow applications.

Let's hear from some other frustrated applicants.

World News in Brief

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's Socialist party is trying to whip up another Girard case.

The country's No. 2 party handed demands to the Conservative government and the U.S. embassy that a Japanese court try U.S. Marine PFC. Manuel A. Covarrubias of Wapato, Wash. for the fatal shooting Monday of a Japanese woman. The woman did not obey his orders to halt after he found her in a restricted area at Camp Fuji, near Tokyo.

U.S. military authorities said earlier that Covarrubias was on duty at a U.S. base and primary jurisdiction therefore lay with the United States under the U.S.-Japan Status of Forces agreement.

The Socialists called the shooting "a recurrence of the Girard incident." They demanded that the United States abandon Camp Fuji, and that Japan withdraw from the U.S.-Japan joint security pact.

The Socialists led the protests in the trial of U.S. Army Spec. William Girard, who killed a Japanese woman metal scavenger on a U.S. firing range. The Japanese court gave Girard a three-year suspended sentence, but U.S.-Japan relations were severely strained.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli and Syrian artillery duelled for two hours Thursday in the central Jordan River valley near the Sea of Galilee, where three clashes occurred earlier this month.

An Israeli army spokesman said there were no Israeli casualties.

A Syrian army spokesman said a Syrian soldier and an infant were wounded.

NEW DELHI (AP)—The death toll in the cholera epidemic in central India has risen to 113 since July 1, authorities reported today.

More than half the population of 60 villages in Maharashtra State has been inoculated in an effort to stem the outbreak.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia is on the offensive instead of the defensive, Foreign Minister Subandrio said today, and "in the near future will no longer be encircled by foreign military bases."

Subandrio returned this week from an economic-military mission to Moscow where he negotiated for more military equipment to bolster Indonesia's campaign against the Federation of Malaysia.

Subandrio said Indonesia is "surrounded by opponents who have the system of liberalism and capitalism."

Langdon To Take Part In Oil City Canoe Race

Mayor Arthur L. Langdon will represent Warren in one of the events scheduled for the All-America Festival Week in Oil City early next month.

HE HAS agreed to participate in the mayors' canoe race, a highlight of the week-long celebration in honor of Oil City's being selected an All-America city.

It is expected that S. Knox Harper, borough solicitor, will help the mayor represent Warren and provide a strong arm with the paddle.

MAYOR LANGDON said this morning that he had received a letter from Mayor Joseph Barr of Oil City expressing his pleasure at Langdon's acceptance of the invitation to participate in the race.

A luncheon will be held at noon and the race at 2:30 p. m. will be followed by an informal reception. The day ends, according to Mayor Barr, with "a gala musical show under the stars."

MAYOR AND Mrs. Langdon have been invited to enjoy all the festivals of the day.

According to Philip Petraglia, of the festival committee, the mayor's canoe race "has turned out better than any of us hoped it would."

"WE DIDN'T know what the reaction would be when we sent invitations to participate in the race, but so far nine cities have promised to have either the mayor or councilmen represent them."

The unusual event, which has attracted attention throughout western Pennsylvania, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Aug. 8. The actual route has not been released as yet, but it is expected to be two miles up the Allegheny River.

AT THE PRESENT time nine canoes are slated to "go to the post," including Oil City's, Erie, Clairton, New Castle, Franklin, New Kensington, Butler, Johnstown and Warren.

Under the rules governing the race, each mayor is permitted to have one other person from his town in the canoe.

The festival committee has announced that Bernis B. Weber has agreed to serve as commodore for the race.

Singapore Riots Kill 19 As Chinese, Malays Clash

SINGAPORE (AP)—Chinese and Malays fought for the fourth day in Singapore today, raising the death toll to 19. But police said the racial clashes were getting smaller and less frequent.

More than a dozen new incidents occurred during the daily morning break in the curfew to permit food purchases. Police and troops quickly restored order and herded stragglers off the streets at gunpoint.

Another curfew break was scheduled for the afternoon. Many office workers went to their jobs during the morning break.

A government spokesman said the same curfew schedule would remain in force Saturday but the situation is reviewed each afternoon.

Official casualty figures showed 197 injured since the riots began, but the unofficial count placed the injured at close to 400.

More than 1,400 persons, mostly curfew violators, have been arrested by the 7,000 police and combat troops trying to check the riots on the island.

A federal police spokesman said the government was encouraged because smaller groups were involved in this morning's fighting.

Because of the explosive situation, Malays were advised to observe the Moslem sabbath at home today instead of going to mosques.

Malay and Chinese headmen of various communities on the island met Thursday night. They reportedly agreed on temporary arrangements to restore order.

Lee Kuan Yew, state premier of Singapore who is of Chinese descent, blamed the riots on Malay extremists. He warned that if the racial situation got out of hand, it could endanger the Malaysian Federation.

Mayor Langdon has received a telegram from Salisbury, Md., expressing concern about the Supreme Court decision on reapportionment.

According to the signers — Ralph Dulaney, president of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce; Wade H. Insley, president of Wicomico County commissioners; and Francis H. Morse, Salisbury mayor — a 12-state conference is expected to be called early in September.

The telegram asked whether Warren would be interested in sending representatives to participate in such a conference.

Langdon said no decision has been reached here yet.

Learn-to-Swim Campaign Successful, Bell Reports

The "learn to swim" campaign sponsored by the borough playgrounds in cooperation with the YMCA is a huge success, Fred Bell, recreation director, said this morning, with 223 boys and girls participating in the instruction at the three wading pools.

THE PROGRAM will continue each Wednesday and Friday at 3 p. m. for the remainder of the playground season. Additional children of elementary age may join in the program merely by being present at Crescent, Memorial or John Carbon playgrounds for the instruction period.

The older swimmers turned out in large numbers this week for the bus trips to Chapman dam. On Tuesday 222 girls and boys required four buses and on Thursday three buses were needed to transport 172 to the swimming area. Buses leave at 1 p. m. and return at 4 p. m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

THE JUNIOR olympics at Beaty Field attracted 325 participants and 75 spectators Wednesday afternoon. Boys and girls took part in running, jumping and throwing events. DeFrees playground collected 110 points, followed closely by John Carbon, Beaty and Crescent.

The fishing derby at the dam in Conewango Creek will highlight next week's program. Prizes will be offered for the most, the largest, the smallest and fish in other classifications. Fishing starts at 1 p. m. and continues until 3:30.

Next Friday will be the annual bicycle ride from Chapman dam. Boys and girls will be taken to the dam on a bus and the Parks Department will take the bikes on trucks. The return trip will be made on the bikes. Only bikes licensed in 1964 and in good condition may be used.

the proposed projects in their states.

A third, which would have let governors veto aid for community action programs, was defeated by a single vote.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, also won adoption of an amendment shaving $15 million off the total originally authorized for the first year. This was cut from $50 million proposed for loans and grants to combat poverty in rural areas.

But the many-sided bill emerged from the Senate substantially intact.

The bill would authorize $412.5 million for programs designed to increase the education, training and work experience of young men and women. Included is a provision for establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21-year age bracket could enroll and be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Authority also is provided for the government to finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their secondary schooling or take vocational training.

Another major part of the measure would authorize appropriation of $315 million to pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of financing anti-poverty programs carried out at the community level.

These community action programs could include employment, job training, vocational rehabilitation, housing, welfare and special remedial and other educational aid for low-income families and individuals. Provision also is made for adult education.

The bill includes special assistance to poverty-stricken farmers and very small businesses, aid for migrant farm workers, and establishment of a corps of volunteer workers, to be paid $50 a month, to serve in the over-all anti-poverty program.

Your Horoscope for Tomorrow

By Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 25,

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20

(Aries) — Your verve and enthusiasm can promote better conditions because you will give others a lift — and all will gain. Be dispassionate in making decisions, objective in reasoning.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)

— Venus influences somewhat adverse. You have coped with this situation before. Emphasize your charm, enthusiasm and the stick-to-itiveness that sparks a top performance. You can offset unfriendly aspects.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)

— Don't let your style of procedure become cramped, or you could encounter snags, delays, in confining outlook. Heartily launch and pursue a constructive program.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)

— You may reach the peak of your expectations, but if you keep things going and have faith, you will achieve in the long run. Take clever short-cuts; trim out non-essentials.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)

— Dedication to obligations will pay big dividends, especially when you have resisted the temptation to veer off, let things go. Invention, originality, sociability stimulated.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER

23 (Virgo) — This day's success is in YOUR hands. Don't wait for leads; seek hidden advantages. They're there for the taking. Serenely, confidently does it.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER

23 (Virgo) — Good planetary influences. A novel twist, a new approach to a non-moving project could spark fresh interest, relieve the monotony of details. Winnings for good efforts.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER

22 (Scorpio) — Your work will not look so onerous when you know for certain that it's a means to an end. Handle small tasks as efficiently and enthusiastically as the larger ones.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER

21 (Sagittarius) — Kinks in your plans and tactics can be detected, ironed out. You should be able to handle and interpret situations ably now. In aiming for goals, however, don't exceed your limitations.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY

20 (Capricorn) — Your planetary influences more auspicious than otherwise but you will have to watch your step nonetheless; avoid friction with family, close associates. Some tension may be evident.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY

19 (Aquarius) — Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your brains and wits to bring out the effective and eliminate the useless. At ease!

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20

(Pisces) — Your Neptune, excellently placed, encourages loft ambitions, stimulates your talents. You should do well now.

YOU BORN TODAY are a lively, interesting companion and a real homebody. Outstanding qualities: idealism, enthusiasm, intuition, ability to make friends in all walks of life, and keep them. Faults? Few! But these can hinder success if you permit: idleness, acting impulsively, making decisions without sufficient forethought. You are strong in creativity, bravery and loyalty. '64 holds new openings for you: keep developing, expecting that "way-out" opportunity; it will come sooner. Birthdate of: David Belasco, playwright; Henry Knox, 1st Sec'y of War, USA.

Your Forest Ranger

By L. E. STOTZ

Under a cloudless sky I stood among the white marble crosses in the American Military Cemetery in Normandy and looked out over the English Channel. The restless waves below me broke on the white sands of Omaha Beach. The prevailing winds that constantly blow in from the Channel had left their mark on the pine trees that bordered the cemetery.

AS I STOOD with my back to France and faced England beyond the rim of blue water, I realized that I was on American soil for France had given these 170 acres in Normandy to our country as a burial place for our fallen.

The 9,386 Americans who now lie here represent only 39 per cent of the men from our armed forces who were originally buried in this hallowed spot. The rest had been sent home at the request of next of kin to be buried in family plots in cemeteries all over America.

IN THIS beautiful cemetery men of all ranks lie side by side. Each marker bears the name, rank, regiment, home state, and date of death. The only exception is where the identity of the fallen is not known, and there are many of these. On the cross, or on the star of David above the grave of the unknown dead are carved these words:

"Here Rests in Honored Glory a Comrade in Arms Known But to God"

Etched in the white marble of an open air portico at the foot of a pool filled with water lilies are these noble words: "This embattled shore, portal of freedom is forever hallowed by the ideals the valor and the sacrifices of our fallen countrymen."

I HAVE NEVER seen a cemetery so beautifully cared for. The acres of grass were as carefully tended and closely mowed as the finest greens on a golf course. An elaborate sprinkling system kept the lawns in perfect condition, despite an extended drought throughout this part of France.

Islands of shrubbery broke up what would have been a seemingly endless expanse of white crosses, but did not lessen the impact that these markers made upon the visitor who perhaps for the first time could now visualize the tremendous sacrifices made by American servicemen who had fallen in the first assaults on Fortress Europe.

Visitors to the cemetery were mostly French families. Those from Normandy are still grateful for being liberated by allied invasion forces, and they often visit this American cemetery.

LATER IN the day I visited a cemetery where German soldiers were buried. Here were no rows upon rows of white crosses. The only markers for the individual graves were flat square stone tablets set flush with the ground. The unknown dead were buried two to a grave beneath markers that had "Zwei Deutsche Soldaten" carved in the red stone. The known dead were buried beneath individual markers that had the soldier's name and the year of his death entered below "Ein Deutsche Soldat." The only crosses in the cemetery were grouped five in a row. They were fashioned in the rough out of dark gray stone. The middle cross in the row was taller than the other four. Beds of lilies and rows of planted oaks and maples broke up the expanse of the graves of the German dead.

WHITE MARBLE crosses of the victors and flat stone tablets of the vanquished mark the graves of the fallen of both sides in the Battle of Normandy. The thunder of the guns, like a passing storm, has been stilled these twenty years on Omaha Beach. In the American Cemetery a cool wind blows in from the blue-green sea. It is a quiet, pleasant place of great beauty — a fitting spot for our heroic dead.

Inland out of sight of the windswept channel in the peaceful farming country of Normandy lie the German dead. On the black marble wall of the Gateway Building through which visitors enter the cemetery grounds are these words in bronze letters:

"Hierruhen
Deutsche
Soldaten
Ici Reposent
Dessoldats
Allemands"

Philadelphia Schools Eye Big Spending

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city's board of education has suggested the expenditure of $11 million during the next year in an effort to foster integration and improve the standards of the entire school system.

The proposals, made Thursday, include the pairing of Negro and white schools, reducing the size of classes, and the replacement of the present elementary-junior-senior high school progression by three 4-year periods.

The board suggested a counseling service, more aides, special tutors, and facilities for gifted children at schools in underprivileged areas.

The board also proposed compulsory kindergarten and pre-kindergarten classes for 3 and 4-year-olds. This would demand an amendment to the Pennsylvania school code, which allows children to stay out of school up to the age of 8.

Changes suggested for the next year would require city council to increase the school budget by $10,698,400.

A special committee reported that as compared with white pupils, Negro children attend larger classes in older buildings, with less experienced teachers and fewer school supplies.

The committee reported that, of the 25 per cent of the city's elementary school pupils behind their grade level in mathematics and reading, predominantly negro schools displayed a notable inferiority.

A larger proportion of negro students enrolled in the "less challenging high schools" and a larger proportion of them dropped out, the committee said.

More than a thousand miles of chemical-carrying pipelines in Houston, Tex., link 63 plants and seven subterranean salt domes. The lines connect a mammoth oil refinery and petrochemical complex, whose plants feed off one another. Products of one become raw materials of others.

Scouts Greet President With Cheers at Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—President Johnson told 52,000 cheering Boy Scouts at Valley Forge that the U.S. government "exists to protect the freedom and enlarge the opportunities of every citizen" and thus should "not be feared or attacked."

The government, he said Thursday night, "is to be helped as long as it serves the country well, and changed when it neglects its duty."

Although Johnson did not mention Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, by name, it appeared he was taking this opportunity to renew his defense of the government against Goldwater's criticism.

The Arizona senator frequently has charged that the federal government has grown too large and too centralized.

Overhead, a small plane, faintly outlined by the moon, "Goldwater '64." Johnson gave no indication that he saw it.

The President received a tumultuous reception when he arrived to help the scouts close their sixth national jamboree and receive their Silver Buffalo award for "distinguished service to boyhood."

Shortly before Johnson spoke, Jay T. Leekley, 15-year-old life scout from Appleton, Wis., was killed by a bus when he darted out behind a parked car. He apparently was running to catch up with his troop marching to the giant arena.

Eastern RR Profit Picture Brightens

NEW YORK (AP)—The profit picture for Eastern railroads has brightened.

The Pennsylvania, New York Central and Norfolk & Western railroads reported Thursday big gains in earnings for the second quarter and first half of this year.

Tighter cost controls and increased freight revenues were credited for the improvement.

The Pennsylvania, the nation's largest, earned $11,628,500, or 85 cents a share, in the first half against a loss of $1,119,779 in the 1963 period.

In the second quarter the line's profits totaled $8,460,200, or 62 cents a share, compared with $6,825,300, or 51 cents a share, a year earlier.

The Central reaped its highest first half profits since 1946. Its income of $10,788,751, equal to $1.63 a share, compared with a loss of $4,412,407 in the 1963 first half.

For the second quarter the

Proton Tests Set for Monkeys At Oak Ridge

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Eighty monkeys will be flown Saturday to the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., facility for tests in proton radiation.

Space scientists have been conducting a study in radiation to determine if astronauts face a danger from radiation while on space flights.

A spokesman for the School of Aerospace Medicine here said the monkeys, none of which has ever been in space, will be radiated with protons.

Central's earnings were $9,753,575, or $1.47 a share, against $3,474,715, or 53 cents a share, a year earlier.

Norfolk & Western's first half net income rose to $35,190,403, or $4.69 a share, from $31,360,394, or $4.18 a share.

In the second quarter, the railroad's profits amounted to $18,825,832, or $2.51 a share, up from $17,943,170.

Big 3 Automakers' Profits Now Running at Record High

NEW YORK (AP)—The big three automakers are earning more money than ever before.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. reported Thursday that profits and sales soared to record levels in the second quarter and first half of this year. Ford Motor Co. issued a similar report earlier in the week.

General Motors' sales and earnings were the highest ever reported by any company.

Its chairman, Frederic G. Donner, and president, John F. Gordon, attributed the surge to expansion in economic activity and resulting consumer confidence.

The Big Three's reports of great prosperity came while they were negotiating with the United Auto Workers on new labor contracts.

General Motors earned $602 million, equal to $2.11 a share, in the three months ended June 30, compared with $464 million, or $1.62 a share, in the second quarter of 1963. The previous record was $536 million, or $1.87 a share, in the 1964 first quarter.

First half earnings of the No. 1 automaker totaled $1,138,000,000, or $3.98 a share, compared with $878 million, or $3.07 a share, in the 1963 first half, which was the previous record.

Sales totaled $5,082,000,000 in the 1964 second quarter against $4,516,000,000 a year earlier. First half sales of $9,868,000,000 compared with $8,663,000,000 in the 1963 first half, the former record.

Chrysler, third ranking automaker, earned $60.6 million, equal to $1.61 a share, in the three months ended June 30 against $41.7 million, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier. First half earnings totaled $114.4 million, or $3.05 a share, compared with $77.9 million, or $2.11 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Chrysler sales in the second quarter rose to $1,071,000,000 from $890 million a year earlier and in the first half to $2,062,000,000 from $1,687,000,000.

Ford's profits in the second quarter amounted to $179.7 mil-

NEW YORK (AP)—Maria and the Met have made up.

Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, announced that soprano Maria Gallas will return to the Met next season as Puccini's Tosca. That was her last role at the Met — on March 5, 1958.

Early the next season, she and Bing got into a squabble. He insisted that she had broken an agreement to sing a scheduled performance. She insisted she had the right to sing where, when and what she thought best.

(Business News Analysis)

NEW YORK (AP)—Most business spokesmen hold fast to their belief that the economic upswing is too strong for this summer's particular perils to curb.

The perils most often cited are the possible outcomes of the auto labor negotiations, a more emotional than usual presidential campaign, and the failure of economic growth to make much of a dent in unemployment.

Business circles also are watching closely the trend in the factory work week this summer, in new orders for durable goods, especially in the machinery and equipment industries, and the racial conflicts which could cause economic as well as political upsets.

As always, the ups and downs of the stock market have their emotional effect on both businessmen and the general public.

But the momentum of the industrial and retail expansion in the early spring is counted on to carry over into the fall and winter. The more optimistic, or venturesome, see all of 1965 in the plus column, and put off any worrying until 1966.

In the midst of all this euphoria, the auto labor talks are a leading question mark at the moment. The worst that could happen to the economy in general would be a long strike. This would cripple the steel industry, along with many other suppliers.

In management eyes, almost as bad would be a wage and fringe benefit settlement so costly as to set off price increases. And such a pact would be a goal for other labor leaders. The worst thing here would be the sparking of another wage-price spiral such as troubled the nation in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Most observers are saying, at least, that they expect neither a strike nor an inflationary settlement.

The more prosaic factors of the economy—new orders, factory work weeks, expansion plans, retail sales—will be watched closely this summer by business and government executive officials alike.

Some slackening in many of these indicators of things to come is to be expected during the hot months.

So far, some downturns have been reported. The optimists call them seasonal or temporary. They stress the signs that point to a big autumn recovery—such things as business plans for more spending on plant and equipment, and consumer spending intention polls which show confidence still strong and pursestrings still loose.

'Northside 777' Heroine Dies At Age of 72

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Tillie Majczek, 72, who scrubbed floors 11 years to win the release of her son from prison after he had been falsely convicted of murder, died Thursday.

Mrs. Majczek raised $5,000 and placed an advertisement in a Chicago newspaper offering it as a reward for the capture of the real murderer.

An investigation showed a witness at her son's trial had perjured herself. On Aug. 14, 1945, Joe Majczek was pardoned after serving nearly 12 years.

A movie, "Call Northside 777," was made from the incident.
